Party's Outlook Good, Herbert Tells GOP Rally

SALEM — Capitalize on "distrust" within the Democratic party in Washington against President Johnson and the accomplishments of the administration of Gov. James A. Rhodes at Columbus to sweep the Republican party into office on all levels in the next election, State Treasurer John D. Herbert urged Columbiana County GOP supporters Tuesday night at a dinner meeting here.

Herbert, who is seeking reelection, told a capacity audience at the annual Lincoln Day dinner in the Masonic Temple that "the only way we can possibly lose Ohio is to sit back and relax. On the national scene, the trend is going with us."

HE ALSO advised the audience of 300, which included state and county candidates, to take heart from Lincoln, the 16th president and first standard-bearer for the GOP, "who was undaunted by his failures."

Herbert noted that the obvious loss of support suffered by the present administration in Washington "has occurred primarily from its own party."

He said that this was primarily on "the great issue of foreign relations."

Herbert charged the Democrats were hurt when the $550-million new G.I. bill was passed last week, since it provides more funds than the President had recommended.

Herbert said the failure to repeal in Congress Section 14 B of the Taft - Hartley law, permitting states to outlaw the union shop, can be considered another rotten apple in the Johnson barrel of alleged failures.

"The anti - poverty program is more and more a program to help build a political organization and perhaps help Johnson's lieutenants get jobs," the speaker claimed.

ISSUING "a clear call for rebirth of the Republican spirit on the federal level," Herbert said that the first 60 years of almost Republican rule was beneficial for the free enterprise system.

He said the party has been wrongfully accused of being not for the people. Republican - dominated Congresses, he said, "passed the Sherman Anti-Trust Law in 1890 to curb monopolies, the Taft - Hartley Law in 1947 to eradicate corruption from the ranks of labor and management through politics and had ended the Korean War through President Eisenhower's efforts in 1953. The GOP had never been in office during a war except in 1898 during the Spanish - American War when "we got control of Guam, the Philippines and Cuba. The Republican party can get us out of war."

Herbert said that under the last Republican administration 12 million persons received extended social security benefits, the first and second civil rights laws were passed, conservation was strengthened and statehood was achieved for Alaska and Hawaii.

Charles B. Lang, East Liverpool attorney, was toastmaster.

TALKING THINGS OVER at last night's Republican rally in Salem are William H. Weir of Salem, a candidate for Congress from the 18th District; Judge Nils P. Johnson, seeking another term on the 7th District Court of Appeals; John D. Herbert, treasurer of the state of Ohio, and Charles B. Lang, East Liverpool attorney who served as toastmaster.

Firemen From Five Nearby Towns Help In Fighting Blaze

DUNBAR, Pa. (AP) — Five women were killed and eight other persons were injured—three seriously—in an explosion and fire today at a fireworks plant in this Fayette County town.

Those killed were working in a 25-square foot building at the Keystone Fireworks Manufacturing Co.

First firemen on the scene removed the victims and watered down the remains of the wooden building—one of four at the plant located 10 miles northeast of Uniontown.

Cause of the blast was unknown.

The dead were identified as Mrs. Louis Ross of Dunbar, Mrs. Willie Tonio of Dunbar, Laverne McNatt of Mount Braddock, Anna Mae Widener of Connellsville, and Mrs. Fred Bezilla, 47, of Dunbar.

Fire departments from five nearby communities were fighting the blaze which broke out about 8:30 a.m.

Webb Watson, a plant employe, said some 50 persons were at work at the time.

A little over a year ago the plant was the scene of an early morning explosion caused by spontaneous combustion. No injuries were reported then.

Leaders Arrested, Borders Closed

The coup — the 15th in troubled Syria since 1949 — was broadcast by Damascus radio in a series of communiques that indicated the rebels planned to speed up the country's march toward socialism.

Army units seized power at 3 a.m. while Damascus slept, and arrested Gen. Amin Hafez, head of state and chairman of the Presidency Council, Prime Minister Salah Bitar and Defense Minister Maj. Gen. Mohammed Omran.

Damascus radio said the coup was a shuffle of power inside the ruling Arab Baath (Reawakening) Socialist prty that came to power in a rebellion in 1963, but the list of those arrested indicated the Baath regime actually had been obliterated.

The rebel command, calling itself the "Temporary Command of the Baath party," said the party founder Michel Aflak was also under arrest, with party chief Mouniff Razzaz, the speaker of Parliament and the vice chairman of the Presidency Council.

Between blares of martial music, broadcast communiques said Hafez and the others would be brought to trial and "crushed." They were denounced as "rightists" who had betrayed Syria's Socialist revolution.

The communiques did not identify the rebel commanders, but they appeared to be a group of extremist officers and politicians known as "The Young Turks" who have advocated a speedup of socialism in the past.

The broadcast did not make it clear whether the rebels shot their way into power or whether the coup was bloodless.

The coup leaders declared a curfew from dawn until further notice, meaning Syrians throughout the country were ordered to stay inside their houses.

All communication with Syria was cut off. Telephone lines

LBJ, Labor 'Blowup' Is Threatened

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — A 20-cent argument over a minimum wage increase put President Johnson today on a collision course that threatened a political blowup with organized labor.

"We can do it without the Democrats and without the Republicans," AFL-CIO President George Meany said of labor's demands for minimum wage and other legislation in Congress.

Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz, warning that Johnson will not bargain with big labor over the amount of a minimum wage increase, said the "antagonism" expressed by AFL-CIO leaders may jeopardize labor's goals in Congress and Johnson's efforts to prevent runaway inflation.

No one would say so out loud but the atmosphere here indicated the once strong political alliance of labor and the Democratic party threatened to crumble unless somebody backs down.

The AFL-CIO was a major force in the sweeping election victories of Johnson and other Democrats in 1964.

The minimum wage dispute, informed sources said, was a major symptom of a serious situation that could gravely affect the nation's economy for years to come; this year's congressional elections and the next two presidential elections.

The scrap reportedly caused telephone calls from the White House to here. Details of the conversations could not be learned immediately.

The giant labor federation's Committee on Political Education was expected to give the first major clue today of what the AFL-CIO will do politically to back up its grievances that Johnson and the big Democratic congressional majority which labor helped elect aren't living up to promises made during the campaign.

Meany said "intimations"

371 Reds Killed After 24 Hours Of Heavy American Bombardment

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — The U.S. military command reported today at least 371 Communists killed after 24 hours of intensive bombardment by planes, artillery and 7th Fleet destroyers.

Four strikes by U.S. Air Force F100 Super Sabres caught two companies of Viet Cong in the open near Phan Thiet, on the coast 100 miles east of Saigon, and killed 110 Reds, spokesmen said. The jets swooped down on the Communists to aid government troops tied up in heavy fighting with the Viet Cong.

As explosives rained down on the Communists with new fury, Allied spokesmen reported that the number of Reds killed last week doubled while American and South Vietnamese casualties declined.

A U.S. spokesman reported 83 Americans killed, 354 wounded and 4 missing compared with 91 killed, 423 wounded and 5 missing in the previous week. Government losses dropped from 249 killed and 105 missing to 197 killed and 77 missing.

The claimed enemy toll rose to 1,357 killed, the second highest toll of the year, and 122 captured last week. In the previous week, 684 Reds were reported killed.

The air war continued against North Viet Nam Tuesday. Seven missions by Air Force F105 Thunderchief fighter-bombers blasted buildings, roads and storage areas between the 17th Parallel frontier and the coastal city of Vinh and around the old French fortress of Dien Bien Phu.

Navy carrier jets flew 15 missions against bridges, roads and ferry points around Dong Ap and Dong Hoi, south of Vinh.

Air Force B52s edged closer to the Communist North this morning, unloading their massive explosives on suspected Viet Cong targets in Thua Thien Province 45 miles south of the 17th Parallel. The bombers roared in to support a government operation in the area that has netted 25 Communists killed since Monday, a government spokesman said.

The Viet Cong, however, inflicted heavy casualties on a force of 60 militiamen in a brisk fight in the same area near the old imperial capital of Hue, 400 miles northeast of Saigon. The Communists surrounded one group of militiamen, and their fate was not known.

In the central coastal plains, South Vietnamese forces killed 100 Viet Cong Tuesday in fierce fighting that involved government tanks around Route 1, the country's main north-south highway, a spokesman said. Vietnamese casualties were light, he said.

The battle raged while the U.S. 1st Cavalry, Airmobile, Division and Marines pressed ahead with their big mopup in the 50-mile coastal stretch near Bong Son 300 miles northeast of Saigon. As the cavalrymen scoured the coastal hills and valleys, they found 13 more bodies in dense jungle hit by B52s two days ago, making a total of 51 Communists killed by air attack.

Other sky troopers found more than 100 hastily dug graves for victims of bombs and artillery, an Army spokesman said.

In the central highlands, aerial spotters estimated 110 guerrillas died in 59 combat strikes by Air Force and Navy planes Tuesday. Navy destroyers added to the firepower by shelling hundreds of small buildings, huts and trench lines along the coast.

LBJ Proposes Vast Plan To Fight River Pollution

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson proposed to Congress today a vast program to combat pollution, clean entire river basins and change from "a barren America, bereft of its beauty and shorn of its sustenance."

Johnson sent Congress a long special message spelling out details.

The message lacked any price tag for all he has in mind.

But Johnson asked $50 million for a single phase — a demonstration program for cleaning rivers.

"I propose that we begin now," he said, "to clean and preserve entire river basins from their sources to their mouths."

The ultimate goal is to clean all of the nation's rivers, the President said, and eventually these projects will pay their own way from money local communities collect from users of the waters.

Johnson had some other proposals:

That Congress authorize completion of the National Park System by 1972—the 100th anniversary of Yellowstone, the first national park. He mentioned es-

10 Missing In New York Hotel Blaze

MINEOLA, N.Y. (AP) — Fire swept a 50-year-old stucco and wood hotel early today and police reported hours later that at least 10 persons had not been accounted for.

The fire broke out about 4:30 a.m. Three persons jumped from windows and four others suffered smoke inhalation and burns. None was said to be in critical condition.

Police said their report of 10 missing was based on a check showing 36 persons were registered. The hotel is near the center of this Long Island village, the Nassau County seat. Frances Anderson, manager, said the hotel register was destroyed in the blaze.

The fire was declared under control at 6:15 a.m. and police and firemen began searching the smoking ruins.

Phillis Seeks State Review For Job Case

LISBON — Common Pleas Judge Joel H. Sharp this morning took under advisement a motion by G. William Brokaw, defense attorney, to return the case of ousted County Home superintendent Russell V. Phillis to the State Personnel Board of Review for conclusions of law and findings of facts to support the Dec. 21 decision of the board in Phillis' appeal of his discharge.

Prosecuting Atty. J. Warren Bettis concurred with Brokaw, but asked for separate findings and conclusions supporting the decision.

In his opening statement, Brokaw said the Personnel Board of Review in Columbus dismissed one of eight charges against the former superintendent, overruled a motion to dismiss four of the accusation and took under advisement motions to dismiss another four.

2 Police Lodges To Back Officer In Court Appeal

Fraternal Order of Police Lodge 26 and its civilian affiliate, FOP Associates Lodge 29, voted Tuesday night to pledge funds from their treasuries to assist Patrolman Leonard Richard in an appeal in Common Pleas Court at Lisbon against a five - day payless suspension which he was given after a cruiser he was operating was involved in a traffic mishap.

The ultimate amount that will be expended was not spelled out in separate motions of the two lodges, but it was indicated $100 already has been provided for the initial expense. The two lodges each approved the motions unanimously during a special meeting at City Hall.

RICHARD said his attorney, Charles Lang, will file the action in the court at Lisbon, appealing from a decision of the Municipal Civil Service Commission, which upheld the suspension decreed for him by Safety-Service Director Robert E. Vodrey on charges filed by Police Chief A. J. Radeschi.

Lang filed a formal notice of appeal Tuesday night with H. A. Tullis as chairman of the Civil Service Commission, advising that the case will be argued on the grounds that there was not sufficient cause for the suspension.

The mishap occurred Dec. 18 on the California Hollow section of the Freeway. The suspension was decreed about Jan. 15 by the director when he conducted the hearing which the law requires on the charges filed by the chief. The patrolman then appealed to the Civil Service Commission, which affirmed the action of the director.

Vodrey said at the time that Richard was accused of leaving a police car parked unattended

Apollo Moon Launch Due On Thursday

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — Weather experts studied cloud patterns today, hoping for a break that would enable the space agency to reschedule the first launching of an unmanned Apollo moonship for Thursday.

A Saturn 1B, most powerful rocket ever built by the United States, was to have boosted the Apollo into space today. But the shot was postponed Tuesday night when weathermen forecast heavy clouds, wind and rain in the Cape Kennedy area.

Meteorologists planned to meet at 4:30 p.m. to determine if conditions might be acceptable for a launching at 7:45 a.m. Thursday.

In case the firing is put off until Friday, a weather satellite launching which had been scheduled that day tentatively was moved up to Thursday.

Arsenal Of Complex Programs

Ohio's War On Poverty Fought On Tricky Terrain

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The War on Poverty is being fought on tricky terrain in Ohio and elsewhere with an arsenal of complex programs that nearly defy accurate definition.

Even the Ohio Office of Opportunity concedes the maize of projects and how they work is difficult to comprehend. But all the programs have names.

Recently, Medicare Alert, Foster Grandparents, and other new titles were added to the more familiar Head Start, Neighborhood Youth Corps, VISTA, Jobs Corp, Work Study, Adult Education, among others.

An estimated 50,000 Ohioans have enrolled in one or another of these programs which have cost $47 million in Ohio since the drive to eliminate hardship got under way a year ago.

Mrs. Lois Rush, research director of the Ohio Office, said the staff has a "bible" it turns to each day to answer questions of local community action groups throughout the state.

"We'd be lost without it," said Mrs. Rush of the bulky "Community Action Program Guide" which spells out instructions for local groups seeking to qualify for federal funds. Ohio now has more than two dozen community action groups covering all but one of the 88 counties and the list is growing. Medina is the only county not yet participating although it could qualify.

The Office of Opportunity, under director Albert G. Giles, was created last February to provide technical assistance and legal answers to community action groups.

These local groups are the core of the anti-poverty effort. They administer all programs and provide the required 10 per cent matching funds. The federal government now pays 90 per cent but may cut it down to 50 per cent this year.

Head Start, an eight-week program designed to help prepare impoverished children for entrance to school, is the only battle so far in which any overall results can be seen.

It reached more than 20,000 pre-school youngsters at 490 centers in Ohio last summer at a cost of $2.8 million.

Kindergarten teachers surveyed generally agreed. Mrs. Josephine Zeno, who teaches in Canton, was typical. "My children are doing things my previous classes were not doing until April," she said.

Giles also believes the Neighborhood Youth Corps is off to a good start in Ohio and already has helped move "several hundred" young people into jobs or drop outs back to the classroom.

More than 20,000 boys and girls between ages 16 and 21 enrolled in the youth corps in the summer of 1965 in a work-training program that so far has cost $13.6 million.

Students from impoverished families in or out of school are paid $1.25 an hour for work on public or private non-profit projects deemed "in the public interest."

Other programs vary widely from community to community and there is no means of keeping track of them regularly except in terms of dollars.

Giles' office has begun a survey to determine the extent to which they have moved.

About $13.5 million of first year funds, for instance, went to community programs. They ranged from increasingly popular neighborhood centers which provide such services as legal aid, employment counseling, and home management advice to newly approved Medicare Alert.

Recently, Ohio community action committees divided a $370,000 federal allocation to sign up Medicare clients among the poor prior to the March 31 deadline.

The federal Office of Economic Opportunity in Washington said as of the first of this year, 3,917 Ohioans had enrolled in Adult Basic Education—a program designed in part to wipe out illiteracy. It had cost $509,462.

There had been 47 small business loans totaling $518,685 while 5,302 Ohioans took part in work experience programs at a cost of $8.2 million. Seventy-eight rural loans totaling $113,200 had been granted Ohioans.

Formation Of Minority Economic Council Urged

WASHINGTON (AP) — Creation of a permanent Minority Economic Council to champion the dissenting economic views of the party out of power was proposed today by Rep. Thomas B. Curtis, R-Mo.

Curtis, senior House Republican on the Joint Economic Committee of Congress, made his proposal in a statement prepared for a symposium observing the 20th anniversary of the Employment Act of 1946.

That act formally fixed maximum production, employment and purchasing power as the overriding goals of national economic policy. It established the joint congressional commtitee and the President's Council of Economic Advisers to help attain the goals.

The symposium was organized as a special hearing of the congressional committee but was to be held in a large hotel ballroom. The invited participants included chairmen and members of the President's Council during the Harry S. Truman, Dwight D. Eisenhower, John F. Kennedy and Johnson administrations.

"Debate on economic issues is today not extensive enough or thorough enough," Curtis said. "It needs a better informed, institutionalized challenger, able to refine and clarify economic policy issues."

Curtis said that while the executive branch has mast research and statistical resources at its command and "a strong attraction for private advisers," the minority party in Congress lacks such resources.

To bring "informed dissenters" together, he said, the Minority Economic Council would be appointed by a "board of directors" consisting of the ranking minority members of the Senate and House committees dealing with economic affairs—the Joint Economic, Senate Finance, House Ways and Means, both Banking Committee and both Appropriations Committees.

continued Operation Mastiff in jungles long controlled by the Communists 35 miles northwest of Saigon, but there were indications the six or seven veteran Viet Cong regiments presumed in the area had pulled out. So far the division-sized thrust has killed 10 Viet Cong and captured five. The Big Red One's 2nd Brigade uncovered two base camps with hospital facilities and medical supplies, while other infantrymen found 178 tons of rice, 12 bicycles, 4 sampans, ammunition and more medicine.

An offshoot of the drive called Operation Rolling Stone in which the infantrymen teamed up with Australian and New Zealand troops came upon 17 tons of rice, 10 bicycles, 4 weapons, 16 mines, 110 gallons of oil and 500 pounds of peanuts.

However, neither operation brought the heavy contact with the Red that had been predicted by U.S. officers. The Viet Cong put up some sniper fire and caused some casualties with hundreds of booby traps but avoided any real contact with the thousands of troops sent into the brush after them.

The Strategic Air Command's B52s roared in from Guam to blast suspected Communist positions before the infantry thrust as well as in advance of the sky cavalry and Marine drive up the coast.

In related developments:

Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey headed home from Seoul, the last stop of a nine-nation Asian tour, after the South Korean government announced it would ask the National Assembly to authorize increasing the 20,000-man Korean force in Viet Nam.

The Koreans also announced they would send 102 civilian doctors and nurses by April 15.

Hanoi radio broadcast a commentary by the North Vietnamese army's chief of staff, Maj. Gen. Nguyen Van Vinh, saying the U.S. air raids on his country had done little damage to the economy, industries, communications and transport. But he admitted losses in men and materiel.

William P. Bundy, U.S. assistant secretary of state for Far Eastern affairs, conferred in Tokyo with Japanese Foreign Ministry officials on Viet Nam, the question of Communist China's admission to the United Nations and other issues. He will continue on to a meeting in Bangkok next week of chief of American diplomatic missions in Asia.

American motorists drove their vehicles 838 billion miles last year, an increase of 37 billion miles over the previous year, the Automobile Manufacturers Assn. reports.

Hearings Due Cited Drivers

Municipal Court hearings are scheduled Thursday and Friday for three motorists cited by the State Highway Patrol.

Two are due to appear tomorrow morning at 9 before Judge Samuel M. Chertoff. They are John Steinbinder of Columbiana, cited Saturday at 10:45 p. m. on the East Liverpool-Wellsville Rd. on a charge of driving 75 miles an hour in a 50-mile zone, and Kenneth Karl Fillmore of E. 3rd St., arrested Tuesday at 7:35 a. m. at the junction of Routes 170 and 30 on a charge of operating an auto without a driver's license.

Thomas Lee Edgell of 3184 Andrews St., MC 19, is due for a hearing Friday morning on a charge of failure to stop in the assured clear distance. He was cited Monday at 5 p. m. following a two-car crash on State Route 170, near Calcutta, the patrol said.

Meanwhile, Lee Wayne McDole of 101 Leonard St. was given a 10-day County Jail term today on a charge of driving without an operator's permit, but the judge suspended the execution of the sentence for 30 days to permit McDole to take a test for a new license.

McDole also was charged with improper auto registration—driving a 1956 model pickup truck with plates issued for a 1955 model station wagon. He told the court he disposed of the station wagon about six months ago, then later placed the tags on the truck. The judge ordered McDole to remove the plates and deliver them to the court to assure he will not operate the vehicle in the future with improper tags.

Police said McDole was arrested at 3 a. m. today on the East Liverpool - Wellsville Rd. by the patrol. Officers said he was halted initially because of faulty lights on the truck and the investigation which followed disclosed the alleged improper registration and lack of a driver's license. McDole pleaded guilty to both counts.

The ESSA 2 firing, scheduled for 8:58 a.m., would be shifted back to Friday if the Saturn-Apollo shot goes Thursday.

The Saturn 1B is to loft the Apollo 310 miles into space and ram it back through the atmosphere at 18,000 miles an hour to determine how well it withstands blazing re-entry heat.

The spacecraft is similar to one which three astronauts are to ride into earth orbit late this year and to the moon within four years.

Vending machine sales totaled more than $4 billion in 1965, a sizeable increase from the $600 million volume of 1946.

Ohioans Will Never Know

The expected effect of the U.S. Supreme Court' rejection of an appeal to review Ohio's temporary system of electing state legislators from one-man districts will be to make the system permanent.

Legislators elected under the temporary system will be called on to devise a permanent system, to carry out the full intent of the U.S. Supreme Court's reapportionment ruling in 1964. Their inclination will be to protect themselves.

In its 1964 ruling, the Supreme Court said both houses of every state legislature must be apportioned according to population. It required state legislators to represent "people, not trees or acres."

It then twisted the knife in the wound inflicted on politicians who wanted to disregard representation in at least one house of bicameral legislatures by declaring that districts of unequal population would be unconstitutional even if established by referendum. This led to Sen. Dirksen's proposed amendment to change the Constitution to permit unequal representation in one house of each state legislature.

Ohioans never will know whether their state could have been reapportioned to please everybody. Probably not. In every state that has tackled reapportionment there has been the same dissatisfaction. The dissatisfaction has reflected representation.

It has been voiced by politicians, not by their constituents. Politicians always have looked at reapportionment as a challenge to personal survival, though it should have been regarded as the means of saving representative democracy.

That is why the U.S. Supreme Court finally had to remind the states that in America the people are the sovereign power, not the political "establishment."

Our Realistic Relatives

Britain's decision to downgrade the famed navy that once ruled the waves, in favor of a fleet of U.S. super-bombers, has generated a controversy not unlike that which raged in this country when Billy Mitchell advocated air power over battleships for the U.S. Navy in the '20s.

Britain is stepping out of its long-time role as international enforcement officer. It is turning over its responsibility to the United States. But it never pays to underestimate the staying power of our realistic relatives in the United Kingdom. They have a strong instinct for survival.

Britain is singlemindedly aiming to make ends meet.

It has been pulling back for years from places where it was over-extended. It has revised the famous axiom that the sun never sets on the British empire to say the sun should quit rising on more British responsibilities than can be taken care of under prudent management.

Britain grew tired of going broke in the world's behalf and getting nothing in return but ill will and criticism along with a few percentage points of capital gain on investment. Its capitalists are still getting the percentage points, but its government has trimmed down defense spending to manageable proportions.

And will British defense suffer? The admirals will go down with their ships; they always do. But the world leaves all traditionalists stranded sooner or later. It stranded battleship advocates and now it is stranding carrier buffs. It is even stranding never-say-die defenders of super-bombers, made obsolete by missiles.

Pigeon English

One can have only respect for Councilwoman Donna Wilson as she presses her campaign against pigeons roosting in places where she—along with many others—feels they shouldn't be roosting.

The problem is not a new one and it's not only a local one. But it is interesting and challenging.

If Mrs. Wilson can come up with the answer, with a minimum of protest from opposing factions in the controversy, more power to her!

We hope she does, but there's no question but that the pigeons have the advantage. Among other things, they can go peacefully about their daily pursuits uninterrupted by comment such as this which probably only adds to the confusion in an already "messy" situation.

Trade Winds

By William Arbogast

The developing tempest is over a matter that has been of continuing irritation to Republicans and Democrats alike.

The issue is continued trade with North Viet Nam by foreign nations friendly to the United States. While the administration claims this trade has slowed in recent months and has taken some steps to curb it, many members of Congress want an outright ban.

Several bills have been introduced to close U.S. ports to ships which carry cargoes to North Viet Nam. Cargoes loaded in American ports generally are not of military value and are unloaded in ports of friendly nations.

However, proponents of the legislation claim, the ships involved visit American ports after having unloaded other cargoes in North Viet Nam.

Rep. Charles E. Chamberlain, R-Mich., who has waged a long campaign against the practice, claims that 401 ships flying flags of non-Communist nations arrived in North Viet Nam in 1964. In 1965, Chamberlain said, the number dropped to 119.

"The true figure is more than double what we are being told," he said, "and it amounts to more arrivals by free world ships than by Communist ships."

Most of the ships, he said, are chartered to Communist nations and carry Communist goods which the Defense Department claims are not vital to North Viet Nam's war effort. But, he emphasized, they release Communist ships to carry war material.

More than half the non-Communist ships that visited North Viet Nam ports in 1965, Chamberlain said, were registered under the flag of the United Kingdom.

Sponsors of the bills to close U.S. ports to ships trading with North Viet Nam aren't too optimistic about winning their fight in that field. But they have another plan which they believe will work.

They are going to offer amendment to the annual foreign aid and Defense Department appropriation bills to cut off U.S. financial assistance to any nation that allows its ships to continue the trade.

They almost succeeded with that move last year when the House approved an outright ban against aid to those nations. The Senate refused to go along with a strict ban and voted to allow the President to decide whether continued aid was in the best interests of the United States.

The House backed down by a vote of 174 to 164, a margin slim enough to be overcome in a congressional election year like 1966.

Brotherhood

By Truman Twill

There is this about brotherhood, which is being honored this week:

Those who need to think about it can't be relied on to practice it, except at their own convenience.

This doesn't mean it shouldn't be thought about. It does mean, though, that humanity needs to be thought of in categories.

Some men are brotherly by nature. They wouldn't know how to be anything else. They are intrinsically good. They are incapable of hatred against anything but hatred. They do not arbitrarily stake out areas of hatred and practice hatred on principle.

Some men are capable of learning how to behave in a brotherly way, like dogs being housebroken. They will adhere to their teaching, unless something throws them out of their routine.

If that happens, they will revert to nature. They will not follow training but instinct. Though they may revert subsequently to their training—come back to their upbringing—they will have revealed how they really feel.

The third category contains humans who are not brotherly by nature and cannot be made to behave that way by training.

They are a deadly and fascinating group whose antics have accounted for some of the lurid chapters in history. They have run amuck periodically, destroying life and taking out their spite.

They have identified themselves to one another in many ways—insignia, colors, secret passwords, assorted titles. But always at the core of their common footing is blood lust. They are like wolves traveling in packs. Even more frightening, they are like domesticated dogs that revert to the wild state.

We deny their existence at our own peril. No one is safe from them, yet locking them away in cages is impossible unless they can be caught in the act of breaking the law and taken out of circulation by legal action.

Brotherhood Week is a sound idea.

All who strive to be brotherly should strive harder during Brotherwood Week. But no one should be gullible enough to think there will be any improvement among the wolves and wild dogs.

If we could get rid of the idea that they can be housebroken, a lot of bloodshed and heartache could be spared the human race. This includes specimens in bedsheets, Brooks Brothers suits, brown shirts, black shirts, silver shirts—all the costumes there are.

By their deeds we know them, not by what they look like.

This 'n That

An important 1919 book that did not make the bestseller lists was Robert H. Goddard's "A Method of Reaching Extreme Altitudes," issued by the Smithsonian Institution. Goddard described his rocket experiments, and closed with this prophetic remark: "It remains only to perform certain necessary preliminary experiments before an apparatus can be constructed that will carry recording instruments to any desired altitude."

The anniversary of Abraham Lincoln's birth on Feb. 12, 1809, recalls one of the world's most erroneous prophecies. Shortly after his birth, a 9-year-old cousin had a peek at the new addition to the family. Gazing on the wrinkled infant Abraham, the cousin exclaimed, or so it was later recalled, "He'll never come to much!"

Before World War II Indonesia had 42,000 acres planted in cinchona trees. These produced 85 to 90 per cent of the world's supply of quinine. The groves were neglected during the Japanese occupation and Indonesia's struggle for independence. By 1959 only 16,000 acres were productive.

The looms of ancient Peru spun some of the best textiles ever made. As early as 2500 B.C., Peruvian craftsmen were using cotton and wool to weave almost every known kind of fabric, including tapestry, embroidery and lacelike gauze.

Showdown Due In Construction Field

By Victor Riesel

It's the time to join with the President of the United States to consider the plight of the poletarians who must toil in the sun and winds constructing our hospitals, schools, public structures and private buildings.

Victor Riesel

There are, for example, the oppressed Plumbers, who in some sectors of the land must work for $7.50 an hour, $15 an hour double-time just to keep girth and soul together.

In some areas their plight is lightened by contract clauses which prevail on the employers to send the Plumbers' children to camp in the summertime at company expense — just to get them away from the acrid charcoal smoke of patio cookouts. This is called a fringe benefit.

Now the national leaders of the Plumbers—and of millions of construction trades' unionists, among whom $6 and $7 an hour wage rates raise no manicured eyebrows—have told the President they can't be bothered with anti-inflation guidelines.

THIS SHOULDN'T HAVE come as a surprise to the White House. The building and construction trades unions are a world of their own. To get at them the President would have to repeal the law of supply and demand. He might as well struggle with the law of gravity.

The national construction union leaders, who head some 3.5 million men, say what their local leaders want them to say. What the public doesn't realize is that there are 8,000 locals and thus 8,000 baronies.

It's basic to understand that local building and construction union officials wield a great deal of power in the many areas where they have a virtual monopoly in the manning of jobs.

Thus they have been able to shut down billions of dollars worth of construction for as long as 70 days in many big cities during the last year.

BLUNTLY, THEIR POWER in many areas is absolute. The local leaders can tell the world to get out—and their national leaders as well. Should anyone doubt this, there always is the untold story known in the trade and in some diplomatic circles as the "rally 'round the flag" section of global history.

The boys truly were ready to picket the world. It began last fall when Gov. Nelson Rockefeller in behalf of New York State told the United Nations the people would donate an arched stairway into the U.N. East River garden, and an 88-foot stainless steel flagstaff, to the international body in memory of the late Dag Hammarskjold.

A Long Island firm was retained to fabricate the flagpole. The company had a contract with the Iron Workers. They also had a dispute. Also, shortly thereafter, a strike. But by the time the firm was picketed the glistening pole had been finished. But there it lay. Who could move it through the picket line?

As the deadline for the colorful dedication ceremony approached Ambassador Arthur Goldgerg, Gov. Rockefeller and U Thant became slightly nervous. How could there be a ceremony without an American flag? And how could you raise a flag without a pole? And how could you explain all this to the international diplomats who had been invited?

SO THE LONG ISLAND firm sneaked the pole out one night, hauled it over to the U.N., laid it on the garden grass and left. When the Iron Workers discovered that the firm had stolen its own pole, they contacted their brother Riggers and prepared to picket the U.N. so nothing could get through.

The Riggers, being stout fellows, advised the U.N. they would not raise the flagpole. There would be no flag. Finally, everybody put on the pressure.

Not until the construction unions own state leader, the sensitive and highly responsible Peter Brennan, appealed to them on the basis of their own public relations did they raise the flagpole. The garden was dedicated.

No government official could get them to move. Frequently, they give the building and construction contractors limited choice. It's take the pact we offer or take a strike.

They have become the aristocrats, the new class of labor — though there are, of course, exceptions. They now have angered the President.

THERE IS NO DOUBT there will be a showdown. Spiraling pay and fringes and union work rules are steadily moving wage costs up towards $10 an hour. There is full documentation for this.

When word came up from the oceanside midwinter conference of the construction unions' chiefs to the effect that they certainly do not plan to heed any wage guidelines, one of Mr. Johnson's closest advisers told this columnist: "We'll take action. That's certain. The construction industry has been one of our sore spots on the wage picture. We are not going to talk specifics right now. But neither are we going to sit by idly now that they've thrown down the gauntlet."

Since they appear to have reversed the law of gravity, perhaps the President can reverse them.

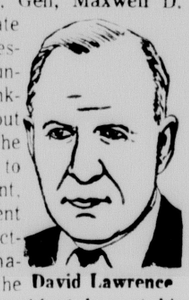
Confidence Vote

By David Lawrence

Congressional Action Could Help

Recent hearings before the Senate Foreign Relations Committee — particularly the comprehensive statements by the former chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, and Secretary of State Dean Rusk — produced questions and answers which undoubtedly clarified the thinking of many citizens about the Viet Nam War. The critics, however, appear to have missed the main point, which is that a President has the responsibility for acting on the basis of information available to him at the moment of decision. The President has at his side Cabinet officers and military men. Always at hand are up-to-the-minute reports from our representatives abroad — ambassadors and intelligence personnel, civilian and military. It's easy enough for a senator to come out, for example, with the advice that bombings shouldn't have been resumed after the recent truce.



David Lawrence

Such a critic cannot know all the facts, and, moreover, he doesn't have the responsibility for making the decision itself. If the critic is wrong, no serious harm is done but the President is every minute responsible to the people and a mistake on his part could be fatal.

MR. JOHNSON happens to be a master politician and knows very well that it's popular to call for an ending of the war, as some senators are doing. He knows also that to give the enemy what it wants would only lead to a large war.

Statesmen have been fooled by appeasement before. Mr. Johnson can't take chances. That's why reckless critics appear unwittingly to be giving comfort to the enemy and causing its resistance to be prolonged.

Criticism of domestic policy is one thing but criticism of foreign policy is quite different. Almost everybody, for instance, knows the meaning of an internal policy, and the disputes are not likely to prove dangerous to the immediate life of the nation, but foreign policy sometimes involves the risk of losing some lives in order to forestall a larger conflict in which sacrifices would be enormous.

No President would ever purposely or deliberately lead the American people into a large war, but misguided and careless cirtics can help to do it. They have a feeling that there's no harm in airing their views, sometimes to satisfy exhibitionist tendencies. They regard as a mere exercise in academic debate the discussion of ways and means of gettting out of the war at any price. The enemy, however, construes this as a sign of weakness and irresoluteness.

THE PRESIDENT has been firm but cautious. In the main, he has upheld the principles for which America fought two world wars and the Korean War.

The "peace offensive," for example, which he undertook has been sneered at by some of the critics as mere showmanship. Yet, it has had a good effect. The other nations of the world, large and small, are now slowly but surely veering toward the American viewpoint and are beginning to ask themselves what they can do to help, even though in some cases it might be token aid.

On the whole, the United States is making progress, both in the war and in the mobilization of world opinion. Captious criticism at home encourages the enemy to think the American people are not behind their President. Maybe it is time, after all, for a "vote of confidence." Congress can do this by reaffirming the joint resolution passed in August 1964. This authorized the President to use whatever armed forces are necessary to safeguard the freedom and independence of a nation which is under the protection of the Southeast Asia Treaty. The resolution was overwhelmingly ratified by both houses of Congress, with only two dissenting votes.

American foreign policy has had its setbacks but it still stdsi for the concept of a universal alliance of peoples, based on the right of each nation to determine its own form of government and to be immune from aggression.

If this principle is staunchly maintained in Southeast Asia, the Americans who have been lost in the wars of the last half-century will not have died in vain.

It's basic to understand that local building and construction union officials wield a great deal of power in the many areas where they have a virtual monopoly in the manning of jobs.

Thus they have been able to shut down billions of dollars worth of construction for as long as 70 days in many big cities during the last year.

BLUNTLY, THEIR POWER in many areas is absolute. The local leaders can tell the world to get out—and their national leaders as well. Should anyone doubt this, there always is the untold story known in the trade and in some diplomatic circles as the "rally 'round the flag" section of global history.

The boys truly were ready to picket the world. It began last fall when Gov. Nelson Rockefeller in behalf of New York State told the United Nations the people would donate an arched stairway into the U.N. East River garden, and an 88-foot stainless steel flagstaff, to the international body in memory of the late Dag Hammarskjold.

A Long Island firm was retained to fabricate the flagpole. The company had a contract with the Iron Workers. They also had a dispute. Also, shortly thereafter, a strike. But by the time the firm was picketed the glistening pole had been finished. But there it lay. Who could move it through the picket line?

As the deadline for the colorful dedication ceremony approached, Ambassador Arthur Goldgerg, Gov. Rockefeller and U Thant became slightly nervous. How could there be a ceremony without an American flag? And how could you raise a flag without a pole? And how could you explain all this to the international diplomats who had been invited?

SO THE LONG ISLAND firm sneaked the pole out one night, hauled it over to the U.N., laid it on the garden grass and left. When the Iron Workers discovered that the firm had stolen its own pole, they contacted their brother Riggers and prepared to picket the U.N. so nothing could get through.

The Riggers, being stout fellows, advised the U.N. they would not raise the flagpole. There would be no flag. Finally, everybody put on the pressure.

Not until the construction unions own state leader, the sensitive and highly responsible Peter Brennan, appealed to them on the basis of their own public relations did they raise the flagpole. The garden was dedicated.

No government official could get them to move. Frequently, they give the building and construction contractors limited choice. It's take the pact we offer or take a strike.

They have become the aristocrats, the new class of labor — though there are, of course, exceptions. They now have angered the President.

THERE IS NO DOUBT there will be a showdown. Spiraling pay and fringes and union work rules are steadily moving wage costs up towards $10 an hour. There is full documentation for this.

When word came up from the oceanside midwinter conference of the construction unions' chiefs to the effect that they certainly do not plan to heed any wage guidelines, one of Mr. Johnson's closest advisers told this columnist:

"We'll take action. That's certain. The construction industry has been one of our sore spots on the wage picture. We are not going to talk specifics right now. But neither are we going to sit by idly now that they've thrown down the gauntlet."

Since they appear to have reversed the law of gravity, perhaps the President can reverse them.

EDITOR OF THE REVIEW:

Although the weather was cold and the snow deep, sincere thanks to my co-chairmen and every "Marching Mother" for their splendid cooperation in the annual city "March of Dimes" drive.

Our national foundation is not permitted to be a member of the United Fund or Community Fund, so we continue our annual campaign to obtain money for research in the war on birth defects and to assist in rehabilitation.

"Thanks" also to Richard Brian, James and Dorothy Crooks for their kindness and cooperation and, last but by no means least, to all who contributed.

Confidence Vote

By David Lawrence

Congressional Action Could Help

Recent hearings before the Senate Foreign Relations Committee — particularly the comprehensive statements by the former chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, and Secretary of State Dean Rusk — produced questions and answers which undoubtedly clarified the thinking of many citizens about the Viet Nam War. The critics, however, appear to have missed the main point, which is that a President has the responsibility for acting on the basis of information available to him at the moment of decision. The President has at his side Cabinet officers and military men. Always at hand are up-to-the-minute reports from our representatives abroad — ambassadors and intelligence personnel, civilian and military. It's easy enough for a senator to come out, for example, with the advice that bombings shouldn't have been resumed after the recent truce.

David Lawrence

Such a critic cannot know all the facts, and, moreover, he doesn't have the responsibility for making the decision itself. If the critic is wrong, no serious harm is done but the President is every minute responsible to the people and a mistake on his part could be fatal.

MR. JOHNSON happens to be a master politician and knows very well that it's popular to call for an ending of the war, as some senators are doing. He knows also that to give the enemy what it wants would only lead to a large war.

Statesmen have been fooled by appeasement before. Mr. Johnson can't take chances. That's why reckless critics appear unwittingly to be giving comfort to the enemy and causing its resistance to be prolonged.

Criticism of domestic policy is one thing but criticism of foreign policy is quite different. Almost everybody, for instance, knows the meaning of an internal policy, and the disputes are not likely to prove dangerous to the immediate life of the nation, but foreign policy sometimes involves the risk of losing some lives in order to forestall a larger conflict in which sacrifices would be enormous.

No President would ever purposely or deliberately lead the American people into a large war, but misguided and careless critics can help to do it. They have a feeling that there's no harm in airing their views, sometimes to satisfy exhibitionist tendencies. They regard as a mere exercise in academic debate the discussion of ways and means of gettting out of the war at any price. The enemy, however, construes this as a sign of weakness and irresoluteness.

THE PRESIDENT has been firm but cautious. In the main, he has upheld the principles for which America fought two world wars and the Korean War.

The "peace offensive," for example, which he undertook has been sneered at by some of the critics as mere showmanship. Yet, it has had a good effect. The other nations of the world, large and small, are now slowly but surely veering toward the American viewpoint and are beginning to ask themselves what they can do to help, even though in some cases it might be token aid.

On the whole, the United States is making progress, both in the war and in the mobilization of world opinion. Captious criticism at home encourages the enemy to think the American people are not behind their President. Maybe it is time, after all, for a "vote of confidence." Congress can do this by reaffirming the joint resolution passed in August 1964. This authorized the President to use whatever armed forces are necessary to safeguard the freedom and independence of a nation which is under the protection of the Southeast Asia Treaty. The resolution was overwhelmingly ratified by both houses of Congress, with only two dissenting votes.

American foreign policy has had its setbacks but it still stdsi for the concept of a universal alliance of peoples, based on the right of each nation to determine its own form of government and to be immune from aggression.

If this principle is staunchly maintained in Southeast Asia, the Americans who have been lost in the wars of the last half-century will not have died in vain.

McNea Tells Rotarians Of Coaching Problems

Bob McNea, East Liverpool High School football coach, presented his version of an answer to the question, "What Is Coaching?", during the luncheon meeting of the Rotary Club Tuesday at the Travelers Hotel.

He pointed out there are both good and bad phases of the coaching profession.

He explained that football trainees fall into three main categories — those who like to "hit," those who "hit" because they know the rules of the game must be followed and those who do not care for contact.

One objective of coaching is to advance those of the last group into the first two categories, he added.

Another satisfying aspect of coaching, McNea said, is for a team to win a closely-contested match, perhaps as the result of a pre-game or halftime pep talk.

On the minus side of the ledger, McNea continued, are such matters as poor fan reaction when the going is bad for a team, disappointed boys who have spent time in training but may not get into the game and parents who insist that their sons get to play.

Scheduling games also presents problems, the coach explained. Financing at times may be a barrier and with some teams setting schedules far ahead it is sometimes difficult to obtain desired dates and opponents, he continued.

Following the program, these directors were elected: E. R. Chandler, Frank C. Dawson, Arthur Doak, Stephen Eibling, Carl Pelini, Leland Pittenger and George Shaw.

Chandler, president, announced that the 61st anniversary of the founding of the first Rotary Club is being observed this week.

Visiting Rotarians were Howard Milligan of Weirton and William McKenna of Dover. McKenna invited the local club members and their wives to attend a district conference at Atwood Lake Lodge April 22-24, with reservations to be made by March 15.

that President Johnson will recommend minimum wage hikes from the present $1.25 to only $1.40 this year and $1.60 in 1968 could lead to potentially serious political repercussions that could even lead to the possibility of setting up a U.S. labor party.

But Meany said the AFL-CIO was not now ready to make that serious a break with the Democrats.

The AFL-CIO goes along with the reported White House recommendations for a $1.40 minimum wage this year, but demands an increase to $1.60 next year — not in 1968 or later as Johnson's Council of Economic Advisers reportedly recommended.

Wirtz said he could not assay the gravity of the political split, but hinted it could seriously affect labor's demands for a higher minimum wage and improved unemployment compensation.

"I haven't been thinking of it in terms of politics at all," Wirtz said, adding that he supported those two labor legislative goals and also was worried about the possible failure of Johnson's efforts to curb inflation through voluntary wage-price guidelines.

The AFL-CIO officials, here for their annual mid-winter Executive Council meeting, sharply turned down Wirtz' pleas to heed the White House guidelines.

Wirtz said, "I think labor's got the biggest stake of anybody in this country in seeing that the cost of living is kept down."

Labor leaders have been voicing rising resentment against Johnson and Congress for failure to win repeal of legislation that bans union shop contracts in some states and at White House efforts to limit wage demands.

Utility Firm Makes Record Tax Payment

LISBON — The East Ohio Gas Co. today presented a record tax payment to Columbiana County Treasurer Vincent C. Judge.

A check for $27,879.86 was delivered to Judge by Richard Shirilla, representative of East Ohio's tax department, in payment of real and personal property taxes for the first half of 1965.

Appeal

on the main traveled portion of a four - lane highway.

RICHARD, operating a cruiser on patrol, had halted the cruiser in the left - hand lane of the northbound section of the Freeway in order to make a turn through a divider strip to the southbound section.

A car approaching from the rear halted immediately behind the cruiser. Richard alighted from the police car to ask the driver to move back a short distance so that he could back the cruiser and make the turn. He said he previously had pulled forward slightly, fearing the oncoming car might hit the police car in the rear.

Then a second car, also outbound, hit the halted auto and drove it forward into the cruiser. Several persons were injured and the driver of the second car subsequently was fined in Municipal Court on a charge of failure to stop in the assured clear distance.

In opening the discussion last night, Patrolman Paul Blevins, president of the FOP, said a committee of three members from each lodge conferred Friday with Lang and decided to proceed with the appeal in Common Pleas Court.

A special meeting was called to authorize the expenditure of the funds because the deadline for filing the action was approaching rapidly, Richard said.

The FOP approved a motion to "allocate funds" to pay the cost of the patrolman's defense, without specifying an amount. The FOPA then passed a motion to pay half of the expense.

Phillis

from the board concerning the four motions that were taken under advisement.

The motions were to dismiss charges against Phillis that he had residents of the county home perform personal services for him and his wife; that he allowed employes to reside free of charge at the County Home and to receive meals there, that he retained a housekeeper to perform personal services without the consent of the county commissioners, and that he converted to his own personal use produce and meats of the County Home without the consent of the commissioners.

The Personnel Board of Review dismissed the charge against Phillis that he failed to furnish residents with adequate food and clothing. However, the board overruled motions to dismiss the other charges which included drunkenness, abuse of patients, and other misconduct in office.

Brokaw also noted that the hearing in Columbus in December lasted three days, resulting in testimony from 34 witnesses and a 700-page transcript.

Among the spectators at the session this morning were Commissioners R. Max Gard and James Boyd, commissioners' agent Freeman Strabley, and Phillis and his wife, Betty, a former matron at the home.

Driverless Car Runs Wild Along Chester Street

A driverless car ran wild late Tuesday afternoon on Carolina Ave., Chester, running up on the sidewalk, sideswiping three autos and causing several hundred dollars damage.

Franklin Katzenmeyer of 313 Louisiana Ave. had started his 1963 auto and then went back into his bake shop on Carolina Ave. between 4th and 5th Sts. while the car warmed up, police said.

The car began moving and struck parked cars belonging to Louis P. Wheeler of Wheeling and Carl Miller of Pittston, Pa., and another owned by Temple Motors and being test - driven by Vernon Walrath of MC 22, Lisbon St., East Liverpool.

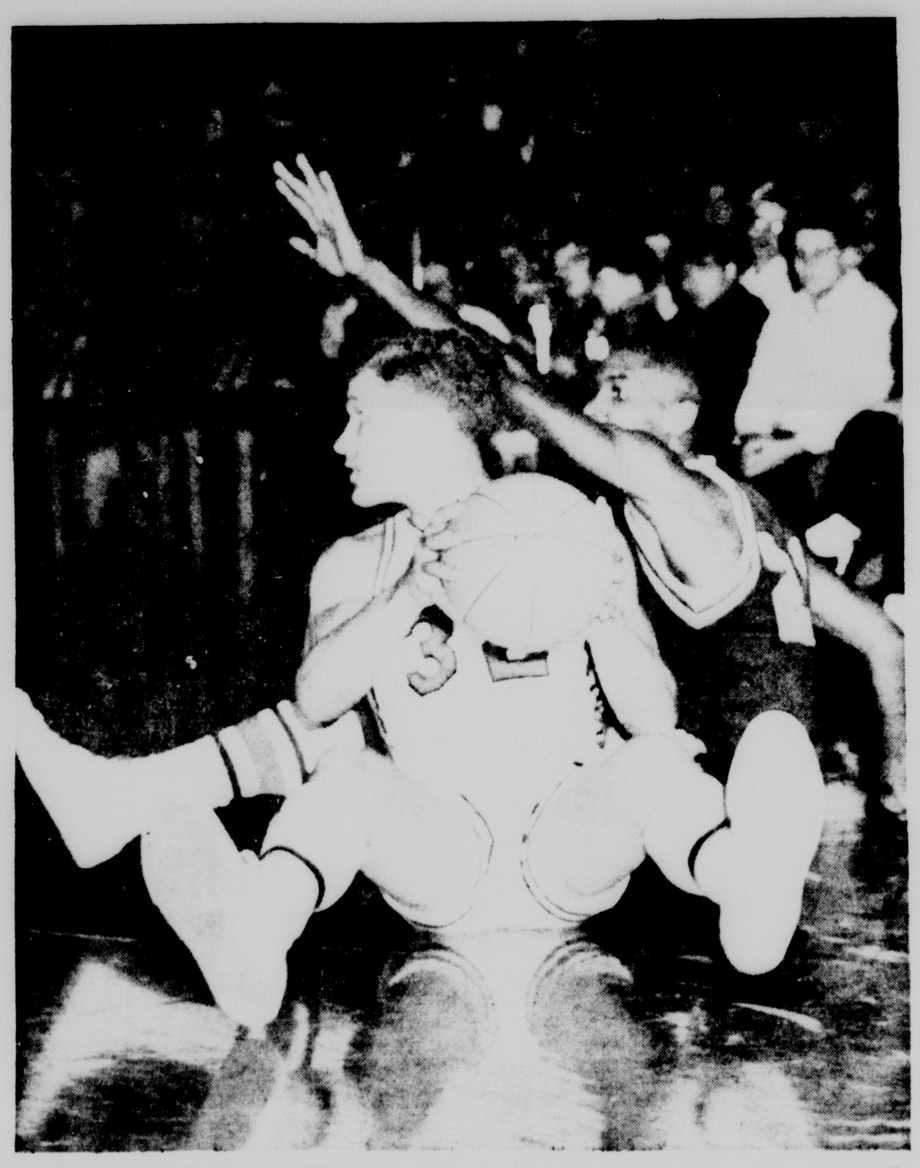
Beavers Beaten By Struthers At Final Buzzer, 55-53



UNUSUAL GUARDING POSITION. Vince Suber of Struthers extends his arm as if to tell Larry Roberts (32) of Beaver Local that he won't let him shoot or pass from a sitting position as the two players fell to the floor in a scramble for the ball in Tuesday night's tournament game at South High Fieldhouse in Youngstown.

By BOB DUFFY
Review Sports Editor

Struthers' Vince Suber beat the final buzzer by a whisker as the Sectional Class AA Tournament began and ended on the same night for Beaver Local Tuesday in the South Fieldhouse in Youngstown.

Suber's goal from in front of the bucket broke a 53-53 tie to give Struthers a 55-53 victory as the buzzer sounded.

IT WAS a tough way for the Beavers to lose in a game that saw Coach Lloyd Stockdale's five let a lead slip through its hands but then show enough spunk to bounce back in the fourth period after falling behind by five points as the result of a disastrous third quarter.

With the score deadlocked at 53-53, Struthers gained possession of the ball with 39 seconds remaining and called time.

★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★

Cold Third Period Costly

THE WILDCATS were instructed to hold the ball for the last shot but missed with 10 seconds to go.

Beaver Local grabbed the rebound, but Jeff Hall was called for carrying the ball and Struthers gained possession at midcourt with two seconds showing on the clock.

Chris Ellis passed to Suber, who drove down the middle and let loose with a shot. As the ball left his fingertips, the buzzer sounded with the officials signaling a basket.

THE BEAVER - Struthers game was the last of three played Tuesday night at the fieldhouse which drew 2,582 fans. In the opener Youngstown Chaney eliminated Ursuline, 52-40, and Boardman followed with a 67-60 win over Poland.

While the final basket decided the contest, Beaver Local's cold third quarter added to the defeat.

LEADING 17-12 at the end of the first quarter and 33-28 at halftime, the Beavers scored only six points, on three of 10 shots, in the third period, permitting Struthers to tie things at 39-39.

In the fourth period, Struthers moved out to a 45-40 lead with 6:25 to go, but Bill Barnhart scored and Larry Roberts, who was held scoreless in the third period, hit his stride with his first of four field goals in the final stanza, bringing the Beavers within one, 47-46.

JEFF HALL dropped in a foul to tie the score at 47-47 with 3:04 remaining and a goal by Roberts put Beaver in front once again 49-47.

The score was tied at 49-49 and 51-51 when Barnhart tipped in a bucket for a 53-51 lead. Vince Murphy of Struthers scored to account for the final tie at 53-53 with 1:11 left before Suber's goal decided the issue.

ROBERTS led all scorers with 22 points, including 14 in the first half. Barnhart was next in line with 17 and pulled down 13 rebounds. Roberts grabbed 11 off the board for the Beavers.

Suber, the most talented cager performing for Struthers, led the way with 20 points and sparked the Wildcats on defense with timely steals. Bob Patton supplied some scoring punch for the winners in the role of substitute with 10 points.

Beaver Local hit 42 per cent on 20 of 47, while Struthers fired 40 per cent with 25 of 62.

Wake Forest Upsets Duke; Cincy Beaten At Wichita

By TED MEIER
Associated Press Sports Writer

Wichita's home - court magic mesmerized the Cincinnati Bearcats for the fifth straight year and kept the Ohioans from winning the Missouri Valley Conference basketball championship.

Wake Forest upset the nationally second-ranked Duke Blue Devils 99-98 in overtime, Michigan State climbed within one game of first-place Michigan in the Big Ten race by edging Illinois 68-66 and Southern Methodist whipped Texas A&M 82-65 to tie the Aggies for first place in the Southwest Conference.

All were home - court triumphs.

Houston's Cougars won their 14th straight by bombing Texas Wesleyan at home 152-108, but fell four points shy of breaking Furman's 155 points, the NCAA major record for a single game.

San Francisco and U. of Pacific remained tied for first at 9-1 in the West Coast Athletic Conference. The Dons, playing at home, whipped Santa Clara 93-80. UOP scored an 80-61 road victory over the St. Mary's Gaels.

Just like they did in 1962 when they broke a 27-game Cincinnati winning streak and again in 1963 when they shattered a 37-game Cincinnati winning streak, the Wheatshockers were supreme in their Wichita Roundhouse. They have won 61 of 66 there over the last five years.

Cincinnati led at 66-65 before Wichita put it away with a nine-point spree in the last five minutes. Warren Armstrong, 6-foot-2 sophomore, led Wichita with 25 points and 18 rebounds to keep the Shockers alive in the MVC with a 7-4 record. Don Rolfes' 20 points topped Cincinnati, now 9-4 in league play.

Wake Forest got three points in the last 13 seconds to tie Duke 90-90 in regulation time then beat the Blue Devils on Bob Leonard's eight points in the overtime.

Duke, ahead at one time by 15 points, led 90-87 when Paul Long made the first of two free-throw tries. He missed the second, but Paul Crinkley tapped in the rebound to force the extra period.

The Deacons, who had lost eight straight to Duke, jumped ahead 94-90 in the overtime and stayed ahead on Leonard's three baskets and two free throws. Long's 31 points paced Wake Forest. Jack Marin got 35 points for Duke, the only team in The Associated Press Top Ten to see action.

Two free throws each by John Bailey and Matt Aitch in the last 45 seconds won for Michigan State over Illinois. That gave the Spartans a 68-62 lead, enough to offset two Illini baskets in the closing seconds.

Caroll Hooser led Southern Methodist to its decisive triumph over Texas A&M to tie the Aggies for first place in the SWC at 8-3. Hooser held John Beasley, the Aggies' star, to 18 points, five in the first half, and scored 20 himself in pacing the Mustangs to their seventh straight victory.

St. John's of New York beat Massachusetts 80-73 and Southern Illinois downed Oklahoma State 69-60 in two victories on the road.

Phillies Trade Dick Stuart

'Dr. Strangeglove', Mets Should Go Well Together

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP) — Dick Stuart and the Mets — a match made in heaven.

The marriage took place Monday when Stuart, labeled "superfluous" by the Philadelphia Phillies, was traded to New York for three minor leaguers.

There is no truth to the rumor that when the Mets tried to slip a ring on his finger, Stuart dropped it.

Stuart, however, dropped a number of things at Philadelphia, including baseballs hit his way, and for the third time in his career, fell into disfavor. Now he has fallen into the cellar.

However, there is little doubt that Stuart, called Dr. Strangeglove by those who know him best, will find an ally in Met fans who applauded another first baseman, Marv Throneberry, for his faults. And Throneberry couldn't hit.

No one has ever said that about Stuart, who hit 28 homers and drove in 95 runs last year despite a .234 batting average. Over the last three years he has slammed 103 homers and driven in 327 runs, and Stuart feels he can keep up the pace if he plays regularly.

DICK STUART
Mets New First Baseman.

"I hope I can convince Westrum (Mets Manager Wes Westrum) I can play all the time," Stuart said after learning of the trade. My record shows I can produce when I play every day. I would have done better last year if they played me more.

"I'm not very unhappy about the trade," Stuart continued. "With White at Philadelphia, it looked like it would be an awfully long summer there."

The reference was to the Phillies' new first baseman, Bill White, acquired in a trade with St. Louis.

John Quinn, the Phillies general manager, saw eye-to-eye with Stuart on the White matter, even if he hadn't on contract dealings.

"Since we got White, Stuart was superfluous with us and only the Mets showed some sort of interest. We had waivers on him from all other clubs in both leagues."

So Quinn dealt with the Mets, acquiring catcher Jim Schaffer and infielders Bobby Klaus and Wayne Graham, who will be assigned to the Phillies' San Diego farm club.

Beaver Star Ties Scoring Mark In Win Over Western

Denny Creese tied Beaver High School's individual scoring record by pouring 38 points through the hoops in pacing the Bobcats past host team Western Beaver, 85-67, Tuesday night.

Creese's record tying mark came on 12 goals and 14 free throws as he helped to thwart the Golden Beavers last chance to gain their first Section 8 victory.

Western Beaver led at the first quarter stop, 14-12, but couldn't contend with the Bobcats as they marched to a 38-28 halftime margin and a 60-49 advantage entering the last eight minutes of action.

Clarence Andrews paced the losers with 20 points as they fell to an 0-10 conference mark and 6-16 overall slate.

Buckpasser Rates 1-5 In Everglades

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — With Graustark out of the way, Buckpasser was listed as a 1-5 favorite to win the Everglades Stake today, last big prep for the $100,000 Flamingo, closing day at Hialeah.

Buckpasser, champion 2-year-old in 1965, will have Stupendous as his entry-mate against seven other Derby-age colts. If those two were not running together, Stupendous would be second choice in the betting.

Braulio Baeza, who was to have ridden Graustark, will be aboard Stupendous. Bill Shoemaker was flying in from California to ride Buckpasser.

The second choice at the parimutuel windows is likely to be Yonder with Larry Adams in the saddle. The son of Bold Ruler is a big, strong colt who has come around recently under the hand of trainer Harry Trotsek.

The Everglades carries a purse of $25,000. If all nine go to the post, the gross will be $30,650 with $19,922 for the winner.

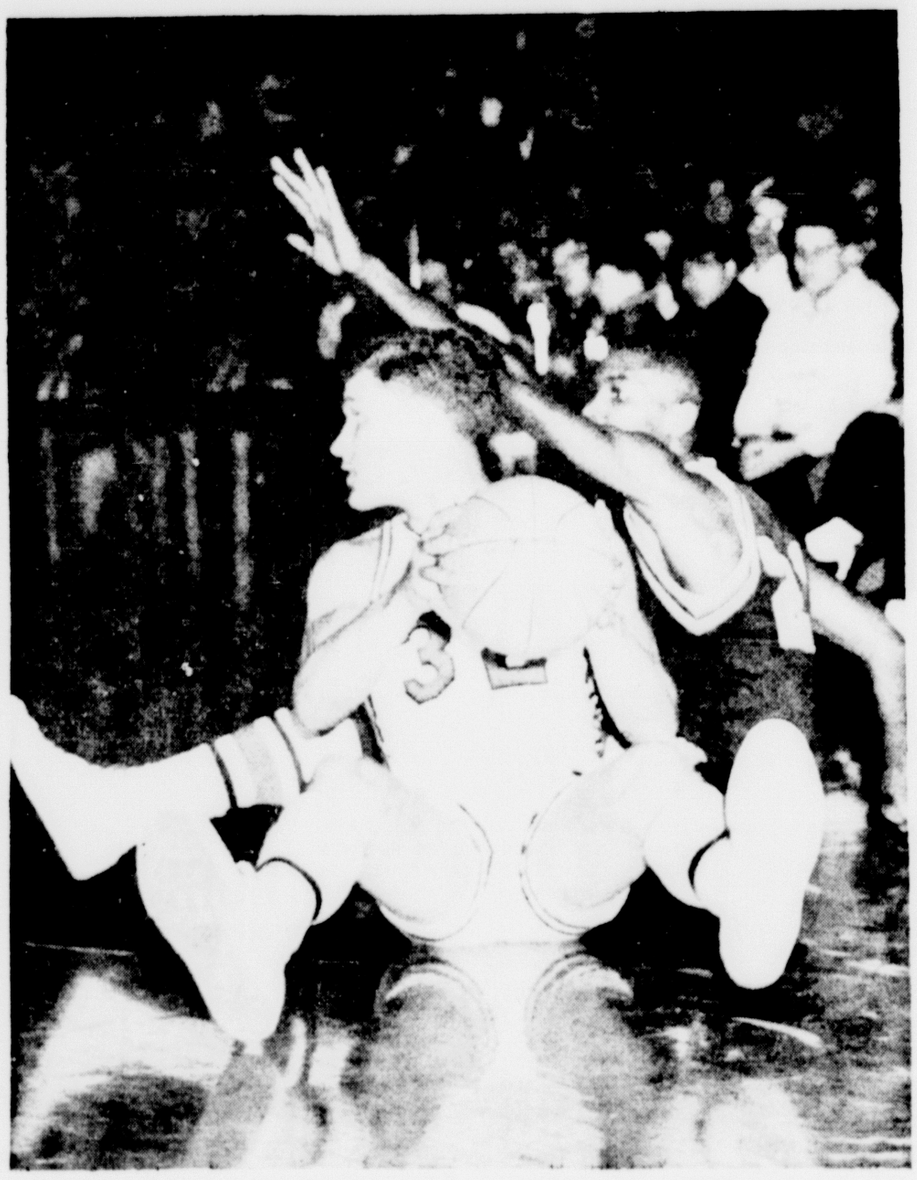
Beavers Beaten By Struthers At Final Buzzer, 55-53



UNUSUAL GUARDING POSITION. Vince Suber of Struthers extends his arm as if to tell Larry Roberts (32) of Beaver Local that he won't let him shoot or pass from a sitting position as the two players fell to the floor in a scramble for the ball in Tuesday night's tournament game at South High Fieldhouse in Youngstown.

By BOB DUFFY
Review Sports Editor

Struthers' Vince Suber beat the final buzzer by a whisker as the Sectional Class AA Tournament began and ended on the same night for Beaver Local Tuesday in the South Fieldhouse in Youngstown.

Suber's goal from in front of the bucket broke a 53-53 tie to give Struthers a 55-53 victory as the buzzer sounded.

IT WAS a tough way for the Beavers to lose in a game that saw Coach Lloyd Stockdale's five let a lead slip through its hands but then show enough spunk to bounce back in the fourth period after falling behind by five points as the result of a disastrous third quarter.

With the score deadlocked at 53-53, Struthers gained possession of the ball with 39 seconds remaining and called time.

★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★

Cold Third Period Costly

THE WILDCATS were instructed to hold the ball for the last shot but missed with 10 seconds to go.

Beaver Local grabbed the rebound, but Jeff Hall was called for carrying the ball and Struthers gained possession at midcourt with two seconds showing on the clock.

Chris Ellis passed to Suber, who drove down the middle and let loose with a shot. As the ball left his fingertips, the buzzer sounded with the officials signaling a basket.

THE BEAVER - Struthers game was the last of three played Tuesday night at the fieldhouse which drew 2,582 fans. In the opener Youngstown Chaney eliminated Ursuline, 52-40, and Boardman followed with a 67-60 win over Poland.

While the final basket decided the contest, Beaver Local's cold third quarter added to the defeat.

LEADING 17-12 at the end of the first quarter and 33-28 at halftime, the Beavers scored only six points, on three of 10 shots, in the third period, permitting Struthers to tie things at 39-39.

In the fourth period, Struthers moved out to a 45-40 lead with 6:25 to go, but Bill Barnhart scored and Larry Roberts, who was held scoreless in the third period, hit his stride with his first of four field goals in the final stanza, bringing the Beavers within one, 47-46.

JEFF HALL dropped in a foul to tie the score at 47-47 with 3:04 remaining and a goal by Roberts put Beaver in front once again 49-47.

The score was tied at 49-49 and 51-51 when Barnhart tipped in a bucket for a 53-51 lead. Vince Murphy of Struthers scored to account for the final tie at 53-53 with 1:11 left before Suber's goal decided the issue.

ROBERTS led all scorers with 22 points, including 14 in the first half. Barnhart was next in line with 17 and pulled down 13 rebounds. Roberts grabbed 11 off the board for the Beavers.

Suber, the most talented cager performing for Struthers, led the way with 20 points and sparked the Wildcats on defense with timely steals. Bob Patton supplied some scoring punch for the winners in the role of substitute with 10 points.

Beaver Local hit 42 per cent on 20 of 47, while Struthers fired 40 per cent with 25 of 62.

Houston's Cougars won their 14th straight by bombing Texas Wesleyan at home 152-108, but fell four points shy of breaking Furman's 155 points, the NCAA major record for a single game.

San Francisco and U. of Pacific remained tied for first at 9-1 in the West Coast Athletic Conference. The Dons, playing at home, whipped Santa Clara 93-80. UOP scored an 80-61 road victory over the St. Mary's Gaels.

Just like they did in 1962 when they broke a 27-game Cincinnati winning streak and again in 1963 when they shattered a 37-game Cincinnati winning streak, the Wheatshockers were supreme in their Wichita Roundhouse. They have won 61 of 66 there over the last five years.

Cincinnati led at 66-65 before Wichita put it away with a nine-point spree in the last five minutes. Warren Armstrong, 6-foot-2 sophomore, led Wichita with 25 points and 18 rebounds to keep the Shockers alive in the MVC with a 7-4 record. Don Rolfes' 20 points topped Cincinnati, now 9-4 in league play.

Wake Forest got three points in the last 13 seconds to tie Duke 90-90 in regulation time then beat the Blue Devils on Bob Leonard's eight points in the overtime.

Duke, ahead at one time by 15 points, led 90-87 when Paul Long made the first of two free-throw tries. He missed the second, but Paul Crinkley tapped in the rebound to force the extra period.

The Deacons, who had lost eight straight to Duke, jumped ahead 94-90 in the overtime and stayed ahead on Leonard's three baskets and two free throws. Long's 31 points paced Wake Forest. Jack Marin got 35 points for Duke, the only team in The Associated Press Top Ten to see action.

Two free throws each by John Bailey and Matt Aitch in the last 45 seconds won for Michigan State over Illinois. That gave the Spartans a 68-62 lead, enough to offset two Illini baskets in the closing seconds.

Caroll Hooser led Southern Methodist to its decisive triumph over Texas A&M to tie the Aggies for first place in the SWC at 8-3. Hooser held John Beasley, the Aggies' star, to 18 points, five in the first half, and scored 20 himself in pacing the Mustangs to their seventh straight victory.

Houston, 19-4, scored 85 points in the first half in routing Texas Wesleyan, the Cougars' last game before their trip to New York for Thursday's game against Dayton. Elvin Hayes and Joe Hamood scored 28 and 15 points, respectively, before retiring with seven minutes left.

St. John's of New York beat Massachusetts 80-73 and Southern Illinois downed Oklahoma State 69-60 in two victories on the road.

Buckpasser Rates 1-5 In Everglades

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — With Graustark out of the way, Buckpasser was listed as a 1-5 favorite to win the Everglades Stake today, last big prep for the $100,000 Flamingo, closing day at Hialeah.

Buckpasser, champion 2-year-old in 1965, will have Stupendous as his entry-mate against seven other Derby-age colts. If those two were not running together, Stupendous would be second choice in the betting.

The second choice at the parimutuel windows is likely to be Yonder with Larry Adams in the saddle. The son of Bold Ruler is a big, strong colt who has come around recently under the hand of trainer Harry Trotsek.

The Everglades carries a purse of $25,000. If all nine go to the post, the gross will be $30,650 with $19,922 for the winner.

Others in the cast for the Everglades include Abe's Hope, Williamston Kid, Rehabilitate, Blue Skyer, Taravari and Super Shovel. All but Super Shovel are nominated for the Flamingo March 3.

Memorial Monument To Hutchinson Slated

CINCINNATI (AP)—A memorial monument in memory of the late Fred Hutchinson will be erected March 10 at the entrance to the Little League baseball park at Anna Maria Island, Fla.

Leopards Finish With 16-6 Mark

The smallest crowd of the season at Lincoln High Gymnasium proved that it doesn't pay to finish second.

The only crowded sections in the gym Friday night were the team benches, and they emptied at will as Midland raced to an 84-45 victory over New Brighton as the curtain closed for the first time in five years before tournament warfare for the Leopards.

In chalking up the lopsided victory over the visitors, the dethroned Pennsylvania Class A champs shot 56 per cent and pulled away after a tight first quarter in which they held a 19-14 margin. The Leopards finished with a 16-6 record.

BOB CLARK and Brent Lake sparked the tight opening eight minutes for the Leopards with eight and seven points respectively. The two finished the contest with 17 and 19, as each ended his scholastic career.

Lake, who has been the Leopards most consistent scorer, will graduate this year, while Clark, a junior, will be ineligible because of age next season.

JEFF LAKE caught fire for 10 points in the second period and was assisted by six - point performances by Rich Mahurt and Brent Lake as Midland ran the score to 46-32 at halftime. Jeff finished the contest with 16 points and Mahurt added 14 as four Leopards reached double figures.

Mahurt and Brent Lake added six-point third periods as the Leopards outscored New Brighton, 20-8, and opened a 67 - 32 spread.

EIGHT Leopards goaled in the final eight minutes to complete the rout.

Two other seniors bowed out of action for Midland — Steve Alston, who tallied four points, and Sandy Martins, who failed to score.

New Brighton hit on 19 of 63 shots for 30 per cent and tallied on 7 of 18 free throws in finishing with a 5-17 mark overall and 4-6 in Section 8 action.

MIDLAND finished second in Section 8 with an 8-2 mark, both losses coming at the hands of section champion Monaca.

Stars After 'A Lot' Of Money

Koufax, Drysdale, Wills May Cost Dodgers Million

LOS ANGELES (AP) — If money is the root of all evil, the Los Angeles Dodgers — who've reaped bushels of the sinful stuff in recent years — seem to be in the path of some expensive salvation.

The Bums' saviors — pitching whizzes Sandy Koufax and Don Drysdale, and shortstop Maury Wills — are aiming at parting the Dodgers from some of that filthy lucre. More than a million, to be far from exact.

Nobody's saying anything about exact figures, but one source Tuesday said Koufax is seeking $600,000 on a three-year contract and Drysdale is after $450,000 on a similar deal.

Another source said Koufax and Drysdale each sought $500,000 on three-year contracts.

And what about Wills, the Dodgers' super base - swiper? Wills said earlier he is willing to be angelic and settle for "the same money" as the two ace pitchers. This was before the new $1-million figure was revealed.

And the Dodgers' reaction? Well, it went this way:

"No question, Koufax and Drysdale are extremely valuable players," said Vice President and General Manager E. J. (Buzzie) Bavasi.

"They want a lot of money, and I want to give them a lot, but their idea of the word 'lot' might be different than mine.

"It is true that I have been thinking in terms of around $100,000, but nothing has been settled on a figure. I haven't made them a formal offer yet," he added.

Koufax, 30, a two-time Cy Young Award winner who won 26 games last season, was not available for comment.

Drysdale, 29, however, said "I will not comment on the figures which would put me in the position of negotiating through the newspapers."

"However," he added, "Sandy and I are grown up and this is a business affair. We want to handle it the way we feel right and in a proper manner for all concerned.

"It's not up to me to say what the terms are, or to comment on the position of our attorney," Drysdale explained. He is also a Cy Young Award winner.

The Dodgers, of course, should have cash enough to meet the demands, however much it seems to hurt.

And even the front office concedes that Koufax on the mound is good for an extra 8,000 to 10,000 fans per game, and that Drysdale and Wills are also strong magnets.

It is generally believed here that Drysdale received $75,000 last year and Koufax $74,000.

Eastern Schools Refuse New Rule

By DAVE O'HARA
Associated Press Sports Writer

BOSTON (AP) — The NCAA, long embroiled in a bitter fight with the AAU, is facing a major rebellion within its own ranks on a new rule fixing scholastic scholarship requirements for athletes.

Led by the powerful Ivy League, more than 100 schools, most of them in the East, are refusing to comply with the NCAA ruling that an athlete must score at least 1-6 on a four-point score in the classroom to be eligible for scholarship aid.

The NCAA, faced with a showdown, appears to be trying to back down graciously and honorably. Whether it will be able to do so under the heavy pressure being applied remains to be seen.

A deadline for compliance with the new code originally was set for a week ago. However, the NCAA extended it a week, until last midnight.

The Ivy League's eight members, joined by scores of other schools, refused to budge from their stand. A few hours before midnight, Dr. Robert F. Goheen, Princeton University president and Ivy spokesman, announced that the NCAA had granted another extension of several days.

The deadline was extended after the Boston Herald reported a survey compiled by sports editor Bob Hoobing and college sports writer Jack Sheehan.

The Herald check showed that of the NCAA's 571 member schools, 108 have refused to comply with the rule adopted at the annual convention in January 1965. Another 54, the paper said, are "in the correspondence stage."

New England schools lined up with the Ivy League include Holy Cross, Amherst, Bowdoin, Brandeis, Middlebury, MIT and Tufts.

The NCAA on the surface had little choice but to bow and extend the deadline to the Ivy and aligned rebels. Penn, a top contender for the Ivy basketball title, is host to the NCAA regional tournament and Cornell is in line for an NCAA hockey playoff bid.

The Ivy League began the rebellion by refusing to comply on the ground that it should set its own academic standards because it does not grant athletic scholarships. Other schools have pointed to the fact that scholastic standards vary sharply among NCAA member schools.

Thayer & Clark Pace 9th Victory

Oak Glen battled to stave off a late bid by Weirton and pulled a mild surprise by gaining a 58-56 revenge victory Tuesday night at Oak Glen.

The victory brought the Golden Bears to a 9-10 record with one game remaining Friday night with Benwood Union, a team Oak Glen already has beaten. The Bears will need the victory for a .500 campaign.

COACH Bob Starkey's team led all the way last night but had to scramble in the closing minutes to preserve the victory. Weirton was the same team that had beaten Oak Glen earlier in the season, 71-51.

With 34 seconds remaining, Dan Clark put Oak Glen in front, 57-52, but Mike Kochman countered for a 57-54 difference.

TOM THAYER was fouled and made one of two attempts to put the count back to 58-54 before Vince Gilliam scored a field goal with three seconds score 58-56. Gilliam purposely missed the foul hoping for a rebound, but Oak Glen grabbed the ball as the final buzzer sounded.

OAK GLEN stepped out to a 17-9 first quarter lead and didn't falter as in previous games. The Bears remained in front, 29-19 at halftime and 40-33 after three quarters.

Thayer and Clark supplied most of the scoring punch for Oak Glen hit 40 per cent from the floor with 21 of 52 going through the hoop.

Weirton captured the reserve the Bears with 21 and 18 points respectively and Thayer grabbed almost half of his team's rebounds by taking 20.

GILLIAM and Kochman shared honors for Weirton with 18 each while the Riders shot 34 per cent from the floor. Weirton is now 8-11 for the season. game. 52-47 with Clark pacing the Riders by hitting 19 points. Mark Miller had 13 to pace Oak Glen.

Wisconsin Judge Orders Baseball To Open Books

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP) — "This is completely unfair," complained Cincinnati Reds' owner Bill DeWitt after a Wisconsin judge ordered baseball to produce its financial record books in the state's antitrust suit against the Braves and the National League.

"We should have at least six weeks to produce this," DeWitt said when contacted by telephone in Cincinnati.

Circuit Judge Elmer Roller ordered the financial disclosures Tuesday and gave all National League teams but the Reds until Friday to comply.

The Reds were given until next Wednesday, two days after the case is scheduled to go to trial in Judge Roller's court.

DeWitt was the only National League owner or official to comment on the order vigorously opposed by the league at a hearing Monday.

And DeWitt wouldn't say whether the Reds would obey the ruling. "This is a legal matter that will have to be determined by lawyers," he said. "But we have nothing to hide."

Roller ordered the league's teams to produce the following data:

— Profit and loss statements and balance sheets dating back 10 years.

— Radio and television contracts for the past five years.

— All player contracts for the 1965 season, including a listing of the number of players under contract in the major and minor leagues and the salary paid to each. The players will not have to be identified by name.

— Income from concessions and advertising.

The material, if produced, will not necessarily ever be made public. Roller, in dismissing baseball's contention that information on player salaries was a "trade secret," promised to accord "full judicial protection" to the documents.

The judge said the material "so inspected shall not be publicly disclosed."

Wisconsin's special counsel, Willard Stafford, told the court Monday that the state needed the financial records to show how Milwaukee compared to other league cities in supporting a team.

BOSTON (AP) — The NCAA, long embroiled in a bitter fight with the AAU, is facing a major rebellion within its own ranks on a new rule fixing scholastic scholarship requirements for athletes.

Led by the powerful Ivy League, more than 100 schools, most of them in the East, are refusing to comply with the NCAA ruling that an athlete must score at least 1.6 on a four-point score in the classroom to be eligible for scholarship aid.

The NCAA, faced with a showdown, appears to be trying to back down graciously and honorably. Whether it will be able to do so under the heavy pressure being applied remains to be seen.

A deadline for compliance with the new code originally was set for a week ago. However, the NCAA extended it a week, until last midnight.

The Ivy League's eight members, joined by scores of other schools, refused to budge from their stand. A few hours before midnight, Dr. Robert F. Goheen, Princeton University president and Ivy spokesman, announced that the NCAA had granted another extension of several days.

The deadline was extended after the Boston Herald reported a survey compiled by sports editor Bob Hoobing and college sports writer Jack Sheehan.

The Herald check showed that of the NCAA's 571 member schools, 108 have refused to comply with the rule adopted at the annual convention in January 1965. Another 54, the paper said, are "in the correspondence stage."

New England schools lined up with the Ivy League include Holy Cross, Amherst, Bowdoin, Brandeis, Middlebury, MIT and Tufts.

The NCAA on the surface had little choice but to bow and extend the deadline to the Ivy and aligned rebels. Penn, a top contender for the Ivy basketball title, is host to the NCAA regional tournament and Cornell is in line for an NCAA hockey playoff bid.

The Ivy League began the rebellion by refusing to comply on the ground that it should set its own academic standards because it does not grant athletic scholarships. Other schools have pointed to the fact that scholastic standards vary sharply among NCAA member schools.

Thayer & Clark Pace 9th Victory

Oak Glen battled to stave off a late bid by Weirton and pulled a mild surprise by gaining a 58-56 revenge victory Tuesday night at Oak Glen.

The victory brought the Golden Bears to a 9-10 record with one game remaining Friday night with Benwood Union, a team Oak Glen already has beaten. The Bears will need the victory for a .500 campaign.

COACH Bob Starkey's team led all the way last night but had to scramble in the closing minutes to preserve the victory. Weirton was the same team that had beaten Oak Glen earlier in the season, 71-51.

With 34 seconds remaining, Dan Clark put Oak Glen in front, 57-52 but Mike Kochman countered for a 57-54 difference.

TOM THAYER was fouled and made one of two attempts to put the count back to 58-54 before Vince Gilliam scored a field goal with three seconds score 58-56. Gilliam purposely missed the foul hoping for a rebound, but Oak Glen grabbed the ball as the final buzzer sounded.

OAK GLEN stepped out to a 17-9 first quarter lead and didn't falter as in previous games. The Bears remained in front, 29-19 at halftime and 40-33 after three quarters.

Thayer and Clark supplied most of the scoring punch for Oak Glen hit 40 per cent from the floor with 21 of 52 going through the hoop.

Weirton captured the reserve the Bears with 21 and 18 points respectively and Thayer grabbed almost half of his team's rebounds by taking 20.

GILLIAM and Kochman shared honors for Weirton with 18 each while the Riders shot 34 per cent from the floor. Weirton is now 8-11 for the season, game, 52-47 with Clark pacing the Riders by hitting 19 points. Mark Miller had 13 to pace Oak Glen.

Wisconsin Judge Orders Baseball To Open Books

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP) — "This is completely unfair," complained Cincinnati Reds' owner Bill DeWitt after a Wisconsin judge ordered baseball to produce its financial record books in the state's antitrust suit against the Braves and the National League.

"We should have at least six weeks to produce this," DeWitt said when contacted by telephone in Cincinnati.

Circuit Judge Elmer Roller ordered the financial disclosures Tuesday and gave all National League teams but the Reds until Friday to comply.

The Reds were given until next Wednesday, two days after the case is scheduled to go to trial in Judge Roller's court.

DeWitt was the only National League owner or official to comment on the order vigorously opposed by the league at a hearing Monday.

And DeWitt wouldn't say whether the Reds would obey the ruling. "This is a legal matter that will have to be determined by lawyers," he said. "But we have nothing to hide."

Roller ordered the league's teams to produce the following data:

— Profit and loss statements and balance sheets dating back 10 years.

— Radio and television contracts for the past five years.

— All player contracts for the 1965 season, including a listing of the number of players under contract in the major and minor leagues and the salary paid to each. The players will not have to be identified by name.

— Income from concessions and advertising.

The material, if produced, will not necessarily ever be made public. Roller, in dismissing baseball's contention that information on player salaries was a "trade secret," promised to accord "full judicial protection" to the documents.

The judge said the material "so inspected shall not be publicly disclosed."

Wisconsin's special counsel, Willard Stafford, told the court Monday that the state needed the financial records to show how Milwaukee compared to other league cities in supporting a team.

Kansas City is headquarters for the National Collegiate Athletic Association and the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics.

Havlicek's Spark Leads Celtics Win

By The Associated Press

The Boston Celtics were down and apparently out, then in came John Havlicek and they were off.

Boston was trailing the San Francisco Warriors 57-37 in the second period and 63-48 at halftime on the West Coast Tuesday night.

The Celtics then fought back to tie it 84-84 late in the third period. In came Havlicek, who scored 13 points in nine minutes, and the Celtics raced to 109-99 lead and an eventual 116-108 victory.

The triumph kept the Celtics 1½ games ahead of Philadelphia, which defeated Detroit 117-112, in the Eastern Division of the National Basketball Association and boosted them 3½ ahead of idle Cincinnati.

In the only other action, the New York Knickerbockers posted their 10th victory in the last 13 tries by beating the St. Louis Hawks 113-108 in a game that followed the Philadelphia contest at New York's Madison Square Garden.

Rookie Rick Barry led San Francisco with 32 points. Sam Jones scored 30 for Boston, and Mel Counts and Havlicek added 20 each.

Baseball Scout Who Pointed Out Willie Mays Dies

CLEVELAND (AP)—Requiem mass will be said Saturday at St. Luke Catholic Church in Lakewood for Bill (Bud) Maughn, 61, the first baseball scout to recommend Willie Mays to the major leagues.

Maughn, who had been fighting cancer for two years, died Tuesday at the home of a sister, Mrs. Walter McNichols in Lakewood, where he had been living.

He recommended that the Boston Braves buy Mays from the Birmingham Black Sox when he was scouting for the Braves 17 years ago. However, the club passed up the recommendation because it had Sam Jethroe, another Negro outfielder, for whom it had paid $100,000.

Maughn was so irked that Mays was deprived of a chance at the majors that he recommended the young outfielder to the New York Giants.

Before scouting, Maughn was an umpire in the minor leagues. He also scouted for the Giants, the St. Louis Cardinals and the California Angeles.

He began his baseball career as a pitcher on the sandlots in Youngstown in the late 1920s, but never made it to the major leagues as a player.

Cliff Hagan Will Become Broadcaster

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Cliff Hagan looked back over 10 years of success in professional basketball as a St. Louis Hawk and decided perhaps "little" men can make good after all.

The smallest (6-foot-4) forward in the National Basketball Association announced he would retire at the end of this season and became a broadcaster for the Hawks.

Hagan, 34, recalled the butterflies in his stomach when he was traded to the Hawks in 1956 and signed his contract on the wing of an airplane at the St. Louis Airport.

"I had less security than Cassius Clay has with the Louisville draft board," he said.

"They told me to play guard, so I guarded the water bucket," Hagan said. "They said I was too little to play forward. Then Bob Pettit broke his arm and I got a chance."

From that day — Feb. 15, 1957 — Hagan was a star. He was named to five NBA All-Star teams and he and Pettit led the 1958 Hawks to the NBA title. He is the last playing member of that team, and will play his last game as a Hawk March 20 in Detroit.

He now ranks as pro basketball's ninth leading all-time scorer with 13,269 points in 10 seasons for an 18.2 average.

Hawks' owner Ben Kerner said Hagan had proven over 10 years "that there's room for the little man, the in-between man, in this game."

How Can I?

By ANNE ASHLEY

Q. — How can I clean draperies that are faded and dusty?

A. —Use a mixture of two parts of cornmeal and one part of flour. Place this mixture and the draperies together in a bag, and shake thoroughly. Usually does a fine job.

Q. — What is a good way to clean lint from a clogged washing - machine screen?

A. — A metal scouring pad is good for this — or some coarse steel wool.

Q. — How can I remove grease stains from wallpaper?

A. — Try applying a paste composed of fuller's earth and water, allowing this to dry on overnight, then brushing lightly off in the morning.

Havlicek's Spark Leads Celtics Win

By The Associated Press

The Boston Celtics were down and apparently out, then in came John Havlicek and they were off.

Boston was trailing the San Francisco Warriors 57-37 in the second period and 63-48 at halftime on the West Coast Tuesday night.

The Celtics then fought back to tie it 84-84 late in the third period. In came Havlicek, who scored 13 points in nine minutes, and the Celtics raced to 109-99 lead and an eventual 116-108 victory.

The triumph kept the Celtics 1½ games ahead of Philadelphia, which defeated Detroit 117-112, in the Eastern Division of the National Basketball Association and boosted them 3½ ahead of idle Cincinnati.

In the only other action, the New York Knickerbockers posted their 10th victory in the last 13 tries by beating the St. Louis Hawks 113-108 in a game that followed the Philadelphia contest at New York's Madison Square Garden.

Rookie Rick Barry led San Francisco with 32 points. Sam Jones scored 30 for Boston, and Mel Counts and Havlicek added 20 each.

Baseball Scout Who Pointed Out Willie Mays Dies

CLEVELAND (AP)—Requiem mass will be said Saturday at St. Luke Catholic Church in Lakewood for Bill (Bud) Maughn, 61, the first baseball scout to recommend Willie Mays to the major leagues.

Maughn, who had been fighting cancer for two years, died Tuesday at the home of a sister, Mrs. Walter McNichols in Lakewood, where he had been living.

He recommended that the Boston Braves buy Mays from the Birmingham Black Sox when he was scouting for the Braves 17 years ago. However, the club passed up the recommendation because it had Sam Jethroe, another Negro outfielder, for whom it had paid $100,000.

Maughn was so irked that Mays was deprived of a chance at the majors that he recommended the young outfielder to the New York Giants.

Before scouting, Maughn was an umpire in the minor leagues. He also scouted for the Giants, the St. Louis Cardinals and the California Angeles.

He began his baseball career as a pitcher on the sandlots in Youngstown in the late 1920s, but never made it to the major leagues as a player.

Cliff Hagan Will Become Broadcaster

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Cliff Hagan looked back over 10 years of success in professional basketball as a St. Louis Hawk and decided perhaps "little" men can make good after all.

The smallest (6-foot-4) forward in the National Basketball Association announced he would retire at the end of this season and became a broadcaster for the Hawks.

Hagan, 34, recalled the butterflies in his stomach when he was traded to the Hawks in 1956 and signed his contract on the wing of an airplane at the St. Louis Airport.

"I had less security than Cassius Clay has with the Louisville draft board," he said.

"They told me to play guard, so I guarded the water bucket," Hagan said. "They said I was too little to play forward. Then Bob Pettit broke his arm and I got a chance."

From that day — Feb. 15, 1957 — Hagan was a star. He was named to five NBA All-Star teams and he and Pettit led the 1958 Hawks to the NBA title. He is the last playing member of that team, and will play his last game as a Hawk March 20 in Detroit.

He now ranks as pro basketball's ninth leading all-time scorer with 13,269 points in 10 seasons for an 18.2 average.

Hawks' owner Ben Kerner said Hagan had proven over 10 years "that there's room for the little man, the in-between man, in this game."

By ANNE ASHLEY

Q. — How can I clean draperies that are faded and dusty?

A. —Use a mixture of two parts of cornmeal and one part of flour. Place this mixture and the draperies together in a bag, and shake thoroughly. Usually does a fine job.

Q. — What is a good way to clean lint from a clogged washing - machine screen?

A. — A metal scouring pad is good for this — or some coarse steel wool.

Q. — How can I remove grease stains from wallpaper?

A. — Try applying a paste composed of fuller's earth and water, allowing this to dry on overnight, then brushing lightly off in the morning.

PROPER SLEEP IS ALWAYS IMPORTANT

With few exceptions, it is not true that the older one gets the less sleep is needed. Older people usually need more sleep to help limit tension, fatigue, dizziness and headaches which senior citizens often get because they may sleep less than seven hours each night.

Once in a while a mild home remedy for sleeping can be helpful. But, if getting to sleep is a constantly recurring problem, you should consult your physician. We have many prescription medicines he may prescribe to better solve your problem.

YOUR DOCTOR CAN PHONE US when you need a medicine. Pick up your prescription if shopping nearby, or we will deliver promptly without extra charge. A great many people entrust us with prescriptions. May we compound yours?

Flu Outbreak In Space?

★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★

Could Hit Astronauts As Easily As Next Man

It could happen. The flu bug, or any of its infectious virus friends for that matter, can strike an astronaut just as easily as it can the next man.

Astronauts could unknowingly carry the virus into space, a hostile environment where razor-sharp control of a spacecraft is essential to survival.

With this in mind, the space agency has awarded a $38,000 contract to the U.S. Public Health Service to determine the best approach to control and early diagnosis of viral infection in astronauts on a flight.

Doctors at the Manned Spacecraft Center agree that it is not a question of can an astronaut be infected by a virus while in space, but rather can it be prevented.

"It is possible we might start a flight with a man in the preclinical stage of some viral infection," Dr. Walter Kemmerer, the center's monitor on the virus control study, said in an interview. "We want to have techniques to enable us to prevent this from happening, and to detect that it is happening," he added.

"Also, we want to know how to prevent one astronaut from transmitting it to another inside the spacecraft."

Just what would be done — whether the mission would be ended — will depend largely on the seriousness of the illness and how far the ship was from earth, Kemmerer said.

While in earth orbit, the spacemen could be rushed home for medical treatment in a relatively short period of time, but on excursions of several weeks or months to other planets, they would be forced to be their own doctors, while receiving instructions from medical men monitoring flight from earth.

No American astronaut has reported even so much as a slight cold in space.

Air Force Col. Frank Borman, command pilot of the 14-day flight of Gemini 7, caused some moments of concern last December when he sneezed while in orbit. It was called by some "the sneeze heard around the world."

Doctors monitoring the medical data beamed back to earth from Gemini 7 quickly checked Borman's condition, and detected no sign of impending illness.

Flu Outbreak In Space?

★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★

Could Hit Astronauts As Easily As Next Man

It could happen. The flu bug, or any of its infectious virus friends for that matter, can strike an astronaut just as easily as it can the next man.

Astronauts could unknowingly carry the virus into space, a hostile environment where razor-sharp control of a spacecraft is essential to survival.

With this in mind, the space agency has awarded a $38,000 contract to the U.S. Public Health Service to determine the best approach to control and early diagnosis of viral infection in astronauts on a flight.

Doctors at the Manned Spacecraft Center agree that it is not a question of can an astronaut be infected by a virus while in space, but rather can it be prevented.

"It is possible we might start a flight with a man in the preclinical stage of some viral infection," Dr. Walter Kemmerer, the center's monitor on the virus control study, said in an interview. "We want to have techniques to enable us to prevent this from happening, and to detect that it is happening," he added.

"Also, we want to know how to prevent one astronaut from transmitting it to another inside the spacecraft."

Just what would be done — whether the mission would be ended — will depend largely on the seriousness of the illness and how far the ship was from earth, Kemmerer said.

While in earth orbit, the spacemen could be rushed home for medical treatment in a relatively short period of time, but on excursions of several weeks or months to other planets, they would be forced to be their own doctors, while receiving instructions from medical men monitoring flight from earth.

No American astronaut has reported even so much as a slight cold in space.

Air Force Col. Frank Borman, command pilot of the 14-day flight of Gemini 7, caused some moments of concern last December when he sneezed while in orbit. It was called by some "the sneeze heard around the world."

Doctors monitoring the medical data beamed back to earth from Gemini 7 quickly checked Borman's condition, and detected no sign of impending illness.

National Unit Votes 90-3

Red China Seat In U.N. Urged By Church Board

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP) — The General Board of the National Council of Churches is on record today as favoring the admission of Red China to the United Nations.

Members of the board approved the wide-ranging policy statement Thursday, 90 to 3, on the first day of a four-day conference.

The board's statement also proposed that a study be made of possible diplomatic recognition of the Chinese government. There was one abstention when the standing vote was taken.

The declaration urged the United States to pursue a policy of support for the seating of Red China in the United Nations "under conditions which take into account the welfare. . and political status of Formosa (Taiwan, seat of the Nationalist Chinese government)".

Cooperation on the exchange of information on food production, birth control and other types of technical development also was urged.

Earlier, the board approved a statement supporting the right and responsibility of an individual to dissent with government policy.

The General Board is the policy maker for the National Council between triennial meetings of the group's General Assembly. The General Assembly, which meets in December at Miami Beach, Fla., is the only body that can overrule a General Board action.

The Red China statement was a recommendation of the National Council's World Order Study Conference which met here last October. The study conference recommended a similar proposal in 1958 but the General Board took no action on it at that time.

The Mormon Church's income from tithing — 10 per cent of gross income is requested, but not all members give this much —is estimated at $125 million annually.

Pole Sheared As Rig Backs

A utility pole was sheared off this morning at Ohio Ave. and Walters St. by a backing tractor-trailer rig, but no one was injured, police reported.

The 1965 model rig driven by Robert Lambright, 26, of Post Office Box 224, New Galilee, struck the Ohio Bell Telephone Co. pole at 6:27 a. m., officers reported. Lambright was listed as the owner of the rig, which was undamaged.

Meanwhile, two cars were damaged in a collision Tuesday at 6:13 p. m. at Lincoln Ave. and Smith St., officers said.

The collision involved a 1963 two-door sedan driven by Emmett C. Barnett, 50, of Toronto R. D. 2 and a 1962 four-door sedan operated by James Locke Sr., 73, of 1510 Wyoming Ave., police said.

There was damage to the left rear fender of Barnett's car and the left front fender of the Locke vehicle.

Charles Morris Receives Post In Progress Corps

Charles W. Morris of Chester has been named one of four county chairmen in an expansion of the Governor's Progress Corps announced by West Virginia Commerce Commissioner Angus E. Peyton at Charleston.

Appointment by Gov. Hulett C. Smith of the latest group of county leaders brings to 12 the number of chairmen designated.

The four selected were Morris, Oak Glen High School faculty member and active in veterans' organizations, Hancock County; Delf Norona of Moundsville, vice president of Mound Museum, Marshall County, and James F. Comstock of Richwood, editor of The News Leader and West Virginia Hillbilly, Nicholas County.

Launched Feb. 11, 1965, by Gov. Smith, the Progress Corps consists of "an army of volunteers" whose aim is to promote West Virginia. The Commerce Department was assigned the task of implementing the program and recruiting volunteers.

There presently are approximately 7,000 "Generals" in the Corps, Peyton said, with nearly 80,000 members pledged by various organizations.

Anthony Bellegante of Brooklyn, circuit director of ministers, will be the principal speaker and also will conduct a class in ministry development Friday night.

The feature of the program will be an address by Thomas Sunday at 3 p. m. He will offer an answer to the question "Does God Have Influence in This Twentieth Century?"

Goodyear's Prices Under 1957 Levels

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — The Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co. says its passenger tire prices will be under the 1957 levels in spite of an increase effective April 1.

The company said Tuesday the prices of passenger, truck and farm equipment tires would be increased one to three per cent.

Charles A. Eaves Jr., vice president of replacement tire sales, said the 7.75-14 power cushion passenger tire — the most popular size used today — now lists at $30.10 and will go to $31 on April 1. This is still 6.3 per cent less than the 1957 list price of $33.10 for the comparable tire, Eaves said.

Humphrey's 9-Day Asian Journey Ends

SEOUL, South Korea (AP) — Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey left for Washington today, ending a nine-nation Asian tour that coincided with fresh troop commitments for Viet Nam from South Korea and the Philippines.

As he departed from Seoul's snow-covered International Airport, the South Korean National Assembly opened a special session that is expected to endorse the government's proposal to augment the 20,000-man South Korean contingent in Viet Nam.

Although the troop issue shared the spotlight with Humphrey's 21-hour visit to Seoul, he told a news conference just before his departure he had not come in connection with the question of sending more Korean forces to Viet Nam.

In reply to a question, Humphrey said: "I'm sure that the Korean government is perfectly capable of making its own decision without intervention from the U.S. government."

Asked if he had discussed additional troops in his talks with President Chung Hee Park and other Korean leaders, Humphrey replied:

"That is a matter strictly within the competence of the Korean government. I don't think President Park needs any advice from the American vice president on how to run his own affairs."

A spokesman for Park's ruling Democratic Republican party said the troop legislation would be formally introduced Monday. National Assembly Speaker Rhee Hye-sang predicted its passage, despite a certain amount of debate.

The South Korean government would not say how many more men it planned to send to Viet Nam, but unofficial reports mentioned as many as 24,000. South Korea ranks second only to the United States among foreign contributors of troops to the anti-Communist cause.

Humphrey closed out the visit by meeting with Park and other South Korean leaders on the Viet Nam war. He arrived in this frosty city from tropical Manila Tuesday night. By the time he returns to Washington he will have flown 43,000 miles to explain the significance of President Johnson's meetings with South Viet Nam's leaders in Honolulu earlier this month. The vice president also visited South Viet Nam, Thailand, Laos, Pakistan and India.

Although he had gone to the Philippines with intentions to avoid any public utterances on the controversial question of sending more troops to Viet Nam, Humphrey heard President Ferdinand Marcos express confidence Monday in Manila that the Philippine Congress would approve sending 2,000 engineering troops to Viet Nam. Somewhat to Humphrey's surprise, Marcos also indicated he wants to send combat soldiers.

Charges Filed After Assault

An East End man and woman injured in an assault early Tuesday night later filed charges against their alleged assailants, identified as Waterford Park jockeys, police reported.

James E. Wilson, 30, of the Valley Trailer Court at 1503 Pennsylvania Ave. was treated at City Hospital for a large bruise on the left leg. Mrs. Alyce Lee, 49, also of the Valley Trailer Court who was a guest at the Wilson home at the time, was examined at the hospital after she claimed she had been struck with a club and threatened with a bottle, police reported.

The two filed charges against Celio Chavez of Ferry Rd., Chester, and Robert Delgado of Waterford Park. Wilson signed an affidavit charging Delgado with assault and battery. Mrs. Lee signed an affidavit alleging that Chavez "threatened" her in a menacing manner" and another accusing Delgado of assault.

Chavez was treated at City Hospital five hours after the incident for contusions of the fingers. He said someone closed the door of a trailer on his hand.

Patrolmen W. F. Copestick and Paul Blevins investigated the incident, timed at 8:34 p. m. Wilson told the officers he was attacked by Delgado and Chavez after an argument at the trailer court. He said he was "hit with a club of some kind." He reported the incident after going to the hospital for treatment.

Mrs. Lee said she was injured in the same incident when she was "hit with a club of some kind and threatened with a bottle," police said.

Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff today granted continuances until 9 a. m. Thursday for both men to permit them to consult with counsel. They are free on bond.

"Just a nanosecond, Joe, you've got chads on your sleeve," is typical of the fast-developing language of computers. A glossary of terms used in the automatic data processing field defines a nanosecond as a billionth of a second. A chad is a small bit of paper punched from a card when it is perforated to record information.

Charges Filed After Assault

An East End man and woman injured in an assault early Tuesday night later filed charges against their alleged assailants, identified as Waterford Park jockeys, police reported.

James E. Wilson, 30, of the Valley Trailer Court at 1503 Pennsylvania Ave. was treated at City Hospital for a large bruise on the left leg. Mrs. Alyce Lee, 49, also of the Valley Trailer Court who was a guest at the Wilson home at the time, was examined at the hospital after she claimed she had been struck with a club and threatened with a bottle, police reported.

The two filed charges against Celio Chavez of Ferry Rd., Chester, and Robert Delgado of Waterford Park. Wilson signed an affidavit charging Delgado with assault and battery. Mrs. Lee signed an affidavit alleging that Chavez "threatened" her in a menacing manner" and another accusing Delgado of assault.

Chavez was treated at City Hospital five hours after the incident for contusions of the fingers. He said someone closed the door of a trailer on his hand.

Patrolmen W. F. Copestick and Paul Blevins investigated the incident, timed at 8:34 p. m. Wilson told the officers he was attacked by Delgado and Chavez after an argument at the trailer court. He said he was "hit with a club of some kind." He reported the incident after going to the hospital for treatment.

Mrs. Lee said she was injured in the same incident when she was "hit with a club of some kind and threatened with a bottle," police said.

Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff today granted continuances until 9 a. m. Thursday for both men to permit them to consult with counsel. They are free on bond.

"Just a nanosecond, Joe — you've got chads on your sleeve," is typical of the fast-developing language of computers. A glossary of terms used in the automatic data processing field defines a nanosecond as a billionth of a second. A chad is a small bit of paper punched from a card when it is perforated to record information.

All pork should be cooked well done to develop its good flavor.

Cross Given Life Term In Coed Slaying

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP)—James C. Cross Jr. faces life imprisonment for the sex slaying of a University of Texas coed. After he was sentenced Tuesday night Cross said he considered it "a fair verdict."

The 23-year-old student from Fort Worth was escorted from the courtroom to the sheriff's office, where his friends and family waited.

"I am relieved," he said. "I'm glad it's over. I can start doing something."

Cross, darkly handsome with expressionless, deepset eyes, admitted strangling Susan Rigsby and Shirley Ann Stark, both 21 and from Dallas. He was tried only in the Rigsby slaying.

His father, a Fort Worth advertising executive, and his mother spoke through tears to their son. Mrs. Cross kissed his cheek and smiled.

The elder Cross, stoic throughout the eight-day trial, would say only that he was "relieved."

A jury of 11 men and one woman reached a guilty verdict 2 hours and 34 minutes after hearing impassioned pleas from prosecutors and defense lawyers.

As allowed by a revised but untested Texas code of criminal procedure, the jury then heard additional testimony before deciding the punishment. The defense presented four witnesses, the state none at this point.

Jurors then heard more arguments by both sides and retired at 9:01 p.m. (CST). An hour and nine minutes later they returned the sentence.

The state's case revolved around a statement Cross signed for officers 16 days after the slain coeds disappeared. This statement detailed how Miss Rigsby and Miss Stark went to Cross' apartment to shower and change clothing after arriving in Austin July 18.

Cross stated he strangled both into unconsciousness after they emerged from the shower, and raped Miss Rigsby.

Miss Stark revived enough to scream and he "killed her then to quiet her." He then throttled Miss Rigsby, he related.

Bodies of the coeds were found two weeks later in a vacant lot in north Austin.

The defense based its case on testimony by psychiatrists who said Cross suffered from "sadistic, brutal sexual fantasies," and that he entered one such fantasy and killed the girls while in a dream world.

Driver Hurt When Vehicle Leaves Road

An 18-year-old Midland motorist was injured when his convertible veered off the roadway at Hoppels Corners early this morning and careened down a hill into trees.

Amos Gomez of 312 Beaver Ave. suffered bruises to the chest in the mishap, which he said resulted when he was crowded off the road by another auto about 2 a.m.

St. Clair Township Constable Dick Wright said Gomez was headed north on Park Way Ext. and his 1964 convertible went off the highway after crossing the Smiths Ferry-Calcutta Rd.

The car went down the hill about 80 feet and was halted by some trees. Gomez was treated at City Hospital. A passenger, Steve Petrosky of 834 Ohio Ave., Midland — was uninjured, Wright said.

The pair said a convertible with four youths crowded their car off the highway. Wright is investigating.

Planning Commission Airs Housing Study

A consultant's interim report with recommendations on housing ordinances was discussed Tuesday night when the City Planning Commission met in Mayor George E. Willshaw's office.

Seventeen attended, including eight members of a sub - committee which studied the housing ordinances drafted by the consulting firm of Carroll V. Hill & Associates of Pittsburgh and Columbus. The housing report is one segment of Hill's preparation of a city "master plan." Robert Lewis heads the sub-committee which studied the report.

Most of the lengthy meeting was occupied in discussion of the housing report. The commission also held a brief discussion on another interim report on neighborhood analysis and urban renewal.

At Atwood Lake Lodge

Special March Program Planned For BPW Clubs

The Business and Professional Women's Club today announced a special "Show and Tell Day" program to be held March 13 at Atwood Lake Lodge in Carroll County.

Miss Joan Witt, president, said the program "is the first meeting of its kind in the area to be opened to non - members as well as members."

All women employed in a business or in the professions in the area are invited to attend, she said.

Local women interested in attending are asked to contact Mrs. Lois McHenry, local reservation chairman, or call 385-2729. March 6 is the reservation deadline for both members and non-members, Miss Witt said.

The East Liverpool club is one of 11 in the area encompassing Columbiana, Stark, Tuscarawas, Mahoning, Jefferson, Harrison and Carroll counties which have united to sponsor the "event."

SIX OFFICERS of the Ohio BPW Federation will be on hand to explain "What BPW Is, Why It Is Unique, How It Serves and Who Benefits."

Participating will be Mrs. Jeanne Squire of Berea, president; Mrs. Ethel Cowan of Xenia; Mrs. Ethel L. Wambaugh of East Liverpool and Mrs. Marianne Campbell of Gallipolis, first, second and third vice presidents, respectively. Miss Catherine Durkin of Cleveland, state legislative advisory chairman, and Mrs. Naomi Carter of Mansfield, state membership chairman. Mrs. Katherine James of Uhrichsville, director of BPW District 8, will preside.

MISS WITT pointed out that "the objectives of our organization — on city, state or national levels — promote the interests of all employed women, not just our BPW members. We hope that many area women will take advantage of this unusual opportunity to meet and talk with our state officials and to learn more about our BPW Federation."

She emphasized that attendance at the conference involves no obligation in any sense. She pointed out, too, that employed women from any city in this area are welcome to attend.

At Atwood Lake Lodge

Special March Program Planned For BPW Clubs

The Business and Professional Women's Club today announced a special "Show and Tell Day" program to be held March 13 at Atwood Lake Lodge in Carroll County.

Miss Joan Witt, president, said the program "is the first meeting of its kind in the area to be opened to non - members as well as members."

All women employed in a business or in the professions in the area are invited to attend, she said.

SIX OFFICERS of the Ohio BPW Federation will be on hand to explain "What BPW Is, Why It Is Unique, How It Serves and Who Benefits."

Participating will be Mrs. Jeanne Squire of Berea, president; Mrs. Ethel Cowan of Xenia; Mrs. Ethel L. Wambaugh of East Liverpool and Mrs. Marianne Campbell of Gallipolis, first, second and third vice presidents, respectively. Miss Catherine Durkin of Cleveland, state legislative advisory chairman, and Mrs. Naomi Carter of Mansfield, state membership chairman. Mrs. Katherine James of Uhrichsville, director of BPW District 8, will preside.

Local women interested in attending are asked to contact Mrs. Lois McHenry, local reservation chairman, or call 385-2729. March 6 is the reservation deadline for both members and non-members, Miss Witt said.

The East Liverpool club is one of 11 in the area encompassing Columbiana, Stark, Tuscarawas, Mahoning, Jefferson, Harrison and Carroll counties which have united to sponsor the "event."

MISS WITT pointed out that "the objectives of our organization on city, state or national levels — promote the interests of all employed women, not just our BPW members. We hope that many area women will take advantage of this unusual opportunity to meet and talk with our state officials and to learn more about our BPW Federation."

She emphasized that attendance at the conference involves no obligation in any sense.

She pointed out, too, that employed women from any city in this area are welcome to attend.

In Special Session

Pennsylvania Legislature Due To Convene Monday

HARRISBURG (AP) — Gov. Scranton said he would decide today when to call a special session of the General Assembly and what topics should be considered.

House Majority Leader Joshua Eilberg said, however, that Scranton already has decided to convene the session on Monday.

Eilberg even listed the subjects:

A proposed increase in manpower for the state police, subsidence protection for homeowners in the bituminous coal fields, construction of community colleges, an interstate mine compact, a school district reorganization moratorium for those districts with appeals pending, Social security for state and school employes, and implementation to permit retired judges to be recalled for temporary duty to help ease court backlogs.

Eilberg said his information came from Senate Majority Leader Stanley G. Stroup, R-Bedford.

Since the current 1966 session of the legislature is restricted by the constitution to fiscal matters, a special session must be called to consider any other type of legislation. It may run concurrently with the fiscal session.

Eilberg said he felt congressional reapportionment should be included among the topics in a special session, but there was no indication that it would be.

Scranton has said he would not call a special session on reapportionment until the Democrats and Republicans settle their differences over where the boundary lines are to be drawn.

Legislative leaders met on reapportionment Tuesday, but no apparent agreement was reached. Republican members said slight progress was made.

Eilberg said he feared the reapportionment talks were merely a stall on the part of the governor. He said he thinks Scranton actually would like to see all 27 congressmen run at large in the November election with the hope of Republicans winning more seats.

Fireworks were produced in the House investigation of the State Police Department. A detective testified that the department occasionally used illegal wiretapping devices while investigating crime.

Det. Angelo Carcaci, said the electronic devices were used at times by the department, although they were not a "part of the regular investigating technique," and "not made use of in every instance."

Wiretapping, or interception of any "telegraph and telephone" communications by any one or any organization, is prohibited, under a 1957 law enacted by the General Assembly.

Republicans added a new wrinkle to the congressional reapportionment picture.

They said that should Scranton call a special session on the topic, they would propose the extending of filing and withdrawal dates for all congressmen in any reapportionment legislation introduced.

Their plan calls for extension of the filing date from March 8 date from March 15 to April 8.

It is the opinion that recent ward changes in Philadelphia mandate realignment of congressional districts. Scranton wants all 27 Pennsylvania districts reapportioned, not just Philadelphia's five.

How Can I?

Q.—How can I make my own ink eradicator?

A.—Whip up a solution of one part of chlorinated laundry bleach and 10 parts of water. Keep this in an old iodine bottle or mercurochrome bottle with a rubber stopper and with a glass rod as an applicator. Use it along with a blotter, just as with a commercial eradicator. And incidentally, this doesn't work on typewriter ink.

A.—Chop the parsley very fine, place it in a cloth, squeeze the cloth very tightly, hold it under the cold - water faucet for a half - minute, then squeeze again until all the water is out.

Q. — How can I make an effective, but harmless, whitener for my dainty curtains and fine linens?

A. — A tablespoonful of powdered borax, added to your final rinse water, will do this.

Peace Pact May Be Shaky

Kennedy, Administration 'Closer' On Viet Policy

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Robert F. Kennedy and the Johnson administration have moved closer on Viet Nam policy but the peace pact may be shaky because of remaining differences.

Out of a round of White House and senatorial activity Tuesday there emerged Kennedy's stated belief at a news conference that there are no differences between his and President Johnson's views on these issues:

—He does not advocate but does not believe the door should be shut to the admission of Communists to an interim government — even before elections are held—if peace negotiators feel this is necessary.

—If elections are held, the United States should abide by the outcome, even if it puts Communists into a permanent government.

Kennedy, a New York Democrat, said he had discussed his stand with White House press secretary Bill D. Moyers and they agreed there were no fundamental differences in the position of the senator and the President.

"I find no disagreement between what Mr. Moyers has said and what I have said," Kennedy reported.

This patching up process seemed unlikely, however, to have much effect on the torrent of criticism other senatorial critics have directed against Johnson. And Kennedy indicated he, too, has some further matters to discuss where his views may cross White House policy.

The Senate goes back to work today on a $4.8-billion authorization bill covering part of the $12.3 billion in emergency military funds asked for Viet Nam. Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen said he would call on his colleagues to end the policy debate and get to voting.

Sen. J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, called his group together to decide whether to act now or continue testimony on the $415-million economic aid bill for South Viet Nam.

The Kennedy-Moyers pact did not appear to rest on entirely solid ground. Moyers had told a news conference there were no differences "if Sen. Kennedy did not propose a coalition government with Communist participation before elections are held."

Kennedy said he wasn't proposing it. But he said Americans must be realistic about the fact that negotiators might want to include them. He said it is a decision that can't be made now.

This seemed to put the New York senator at odds with his old friend, Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, a key presidential adviser.

Taylor said at one point that "if he (Kennedy) means negotiating them into a coalition government, I'd not be for it."

Taylor said in a later statement that the way to get the unconditional negotiations the administration favors is not to set any preconditions.

Kennedy said that when he said at a news conference last Saturday that the Viet Cong and its political arm, the National Liberation Front, must be given responsibility and power in any new Saigon government, he was thinking of the formation of an eventual permanent government.

He said he was surprised at administration reaction to this. He referred several times to a statement by Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey that this would mean putting a fox in a chicken coop.

British Chief, Red Leaders Meet Again

MOSCOW (AP) — British Prime Minister Harold Wilson said today it is too early to judge whether there has been progress on world issues in his talks with Soviet leaders.

British informants said Tuesday they saw signs of Soviet willingness to support Wilson's call for keeping the Middle East peaceful and end the Viet Nam war.

Wilson met again today with Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin and was scheduled to have talks with Communist party chief Leonid I. Brezhnev. His meeting with Brezhnev had not been on the program and was arranged during the night, British sources said.

Wilson also was to call today on former Soviet President Anastas I. Mikoyan.

The British prime minister said he had continued discussions of world problems with Kosygin during the intervals at a ballet performance Tuesday night in the Bolshoi Theater.

"I talked again on these issues with the premier then and that will lead to further exploration of them today," he said.

The prime minister told newsmen on his arrival in Moscow Monday that no big breakthroughs were to be expected from his three-day visit.

British sources said in today's talks the prime minister would give attention to bilateral matters. He is trying to get the Soviet Union to buy more in Britain to lessen the imbalance in trade between the two countries.

Wilson also was to call today on former Soviet President Anastas I. Mikoyan.

The British prime minister said he had continued discussions of world problems with Kosygin during the intervals at a ballet performance Tuesday night in the Bolshoi Theater.

"I talked again on these issues with the premier then and that will lead to further exploration of them today," he said.

The prime minister told newsmen on his arrival in Moscow Monday that no big breakthroughs were to be expected from his three-day visit.

British sources said in today's talks the prime minister would give attention to bilateral matters. He is trying to get the Soviet Union to buy more in Britain to lessen the imbalance in trade between the two countries.

Ohio U. Sets 21 Institutes Under Appalachia Plan

ATHENS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio University's Center for Economic Opportunity will conduct at least 21 institutes during the coming year where businessmen can plan how to employ their know-how so poor Appalachia dwellers "can share in the nation's prosperity."

Separate institutes on community development will be tailed to the interests of big business and industry, small businessmen and entrepreneurs, and financial and investment firms in the 12-state region.

The university laid out these plans Tuesday in expanding on what it will do with a $587,703 federal grant for the purpose announced Monday.

Dr. Richard J. Stillman, director of the center, will head the seminars.

"We will first locate the businessmen who can be the leaders in Appalachia," Stillman says. "Through the institutes we will aid these businessmen in discovering how they can implement and complement government programs—national, state, regional and local—in combatting poverty."

Cambodia covers an area of 88,780 square miles, about the size of the State of Washington.

Has Speed Up To 100 MPH

New Self-Powered Rail Car Scheduled For Test

NEW YORK (AP) — A new self-powered rail car — which borrow some ideas from air travel to make it safe from power blackouts — will be tested on one of the nation's busiest commuter lines, it was announced today.

The gas-turbine powered car, capable of speeds up to 100 miles an hour, will hit the rails this summer on the Long Island Rail Road over a 20-mile, nine-stop stretch of track.

The tets, costing $1.3 million, will last eight months. They will be financed by the Federal Department of Housing and Urban Development and by New York State.

The 94,000-pound car will not carry paying passengers — but it will carry test equipment and have a sitting room for observers.

The test could have a significant effect on plans for commuter railroad equipment across the country, said Philip W. Scott, president of the Budd Co., which will make the car.

"Since weight will be a very important factor in the efficient operation of this car, aerospace technology, which must put a premium on size, weight and reliability, has been used to develop these small gas-turbine engines," said Harry H. Wetzel, president of Garrett Cor.

Garrett makes both the engines and the aircraft-type air conditioning system.

"The passenger will feel a quiet surge of power as the train accelerates," Wetzel said.

"There will be no pulsating or pulling."

Prime target for the new car are the suburban railroads in the New York metropolitan area, which have a total of 835 miles of track — only 402 miles electrified for non-diesel railroad use.

It costs $400,000 or more per mile to electrify a track system, the statement said. Such expense would not be required uing the self-propelled gas turbine cars.

A gas turbine harnesses the hot gasses from burning fuels to turn the blades of a fan which then turns a drive shaft.

Gas turbines can use a variety of fuels, including kerosene and low-grade oils.

100 Attend Dinner Meeting Of Cub Group At Emmanuel

Cub Pack 11 of the Emmanuel Presbyterian Church held its annual Blue and Gold Dinner Monday night, with 100 attending.

Den mothers were in charge of arrangements for the dinner, which was served in buffet style. Each table setting was marked by miniature blue and gold flags decorating candy containers.

Favors consisted of china mugs inscribed with historic flags depicting the early history of the United States.

Bernstorf presented a bear badge to William Pyle and silver arrows to William Blair, Michael Jasenec and Victor Jasenec. David Poe and Roger Stacey received Webelos badges.

Bernstorf announced his retirement as cubmaster, with Adams to take over as leader. He expressed appreciation to den mothers who helped in making the pack a success during the last two years.

Brett Discloses GOP Backing In Governor Race

LANCASTER, Pa. (AP)—Dr. George J. Brett, a Lancaster dentist, says he is running for the Republican nomination for governor with the backing of a statewide group of independent conservative Republicans.

Dr. Brett, who lives at Columbia R.D. 1, said Blair Gunther, former state Superior Court justice and former Supreme and Superior Court prothonotary, would run for the nomination for lieutenant governor.

Dr. Brett said the candidate for secretary of internal affairs will be J. Warren Kell of Philadelphia.

Dr. Brett is president of the Pennsylvania Pure Water Association, an organization opposed to flouridation of water. He said part of his campaign would be based on trying to "restore the Bible in the schools."

He has run unsuccessfully for the General Assembly from Lancaster County and also was unsuccessful in bids for the Republican nomination for state treasurer and congressman.

Gunther was a Superior Court judge from 1950 to 1960. He then became the prothonotary of Pennsylvania's two highest courts. In 1964 he started a four year term as Allegheny County commissioner.

Youth Confesses To Attacks On Eleven Women

CLEVELAND (AP) — George E. Young, 17, picked up by police for questioning in a slaying, confessed Tuesday to criminal assaults on 11 east side women after breaking into their homes, detectives reported.

Detectives said Young was to undergo more questioning today and that facts in the case will be presented to juvenile authorities, who will decide if they will claim jurisdiction. If they do not, Young may be treated as an adult, police explained.

The youth was picked up Monday in the investigation of the fatal shooting of James Scott, early last Saturday.

Detectives said Young has been identified by nine persons as the assailant-robber that his fingerprints match prints found at the scene of one rape-robbery.

There are more than 225 apparel - manufacturing plants in the Lehigh Valley area of Pennsylvania comprising Lehigh and Northampton counties. With more than 22,000 workers in the industry, the annual payroll is more than $70 million.

Thieves Hit Same Car 2nd Time In Week

The management of Arb Motor Sales on Pennsylvania Ave. reported to police Tuesday a second incident of thievery involving the same auto in less than a week.

A 12-volt battery was stolen from a 1963 model convertible on the company's lot within the preceding three days, the firm said. A four-barrel carburetor was stolen from the same auto on Feb. 17. When Ralph Harker, service manager, began to install a new carburetor, he discovered the battery theft.

Meanwhile, Harold Taylor of 601 Northside Ave. told police Tuesday night a thief entered his home and stole two books of old pennies which he had collected. The thief removed the coins and threw the books over a hillside, he said.

A 'Seasoned' City

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — Some 90 tons of salt were wasted here recently. Officials had workmen sprinkle salt on city streets when they received word from a private weather service that two inches of snow would fall. However, the predicted snow failed to hit Kansas City and its "salted" streets.

Journalism Staff At OSU Attacks Fawcett Action

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio State University President Novice G. Fawcett offered directorship of the journalism school to an unnamed person without informing them, members of the school's faculty charged Tuesday.

The journalism faculty, on an 11-3 vote, adopted a resolution of protest to what they said occurred last December.

The resolution, directed to J. Osborn Fuller, college of arts and sciences dean, was another development in a continuing row over various facets of journalism school activity including selection of a director to succeed the late George Kienze.

Asst. Prof. Robert McGiffert said copies of the resolution were sent to Fawcett and Fuller, who earlier this month named a new committee to screen applicants for the directorship. It replaced an earlier committee of faculty member.

Fawcett did not confirm or deny the December offer and referred inquiries to Fuller. Fuller was not immediately available.

Two members of the Wellsville Jaycees have been selected for inclusion in the 1966 edition of "Outstanding Young Men of America."

They are Ralph Fusco, Jaycee president, and Gerald R. (Jerry) Russell, principal of East Junior High School.

They were nominated earlier by the Wellsville Jaycees and have been selected by a 13-man national board of editors for the publication.

The book is an annual biographical compilation of approximately 10,000 young men throughout the country.

Russell, who has held several Jaycee offices, recently was named the "outstanding young man" at Wellsville. He was cited for his work as chairman of the Columbiana County Junior Miss Pageant.

Fusco, who resides at 1701 Lincoln Ave., is sales manager at East Liverpool Central Service. A charter member of the chapter, he originated Jaycee Day in Wellsville and the local Junior Miss pageant. He has served as chairman of several community projects.

Mahoning Unit To Restudy Step In Johnson Candidacy

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio (AP)—A tie-breaking vote by Secretary of State Ted W. Brown in Columbus Tuesday will result in a meeting by the Mahoning County Board of Elections Friday to reconsider its action invalidating 75th District Appellate Judge Nils P. Johnson's declaration of candidacy.

However, Brown said he thought he was voting on something else.

Brown, who breaks tie votes by boards of elections, also cast tie-breaking votes to disqualify William Ellis, a Republican candidate for common pleas judge, and Oliver Stallworth, a Democratic candidate for state representative in the 82nd District.

Brown said in Columbus Tuesday night that he thought he was voting to restore Judge Johnson's name to the ballot. He added if he had known he was breaking a tie vote on reconsideration, he would not have voted letting the courts decide the issue.

Johnson, unopposed for Republican renomination in the May primary, was ordered off the ballot when the board found his declaration of candidacy faulty. Brown said last Friday he regards the judge's second declaration as valid.

The board of elections voted 2-2 on party lines Monday on a motion to reconsider its previous action invalidating Judge Johnson's declaration of candidacy.

The Ohio Supreme Court has ordered the board to restore the Judge's name to the ballot by Feb. 28 or show cause.

Has Speed Up To 100 MPH

New Self-Powered Rail Car Scheduled For Test

NEW YORK (AP) — A new self-powered rail car — which borrow some ideas from air travel to make it safe from power blackouts — will be tested on one of the nation's busiest commuter lines, it was announced today.

The gas-turbine powered car, capable of speeds up to 100 miles an hour, will hit the rails this summer on the Long Island Rail Road over a 20-mile, nine-stop stretch of track.

The tets, costing $1.3 million, will last eight months. They will be financed by the Federal Department of Housing and Urban Development and by New York State.

The 94,000-pound car will not carry paying passengers — but it will carry test equipment and have a sitting room for observers.

The test could have a significant effect on plans for commuter railroad equipment across the country, said Philip W. Scott, president of the Budd Co., which will make the car.

"Since weight will be a very important factor in the efficient operation of this car, aerospace technology, which must put a premium on size, weight and reliability, has been used to develop these small gas-turbine engines," said Harry H. Weizel, president of Garrett Cor.

Garrett makes both the engines and the aircraft-type air conditioning system.

"The passenger will feel a quiet surge of power as the train accelerates," Wetzel said. "There will be no pulsating or pulling."

Prime target for the new car are the suburban railroads in the New York metropolitan area, which have a total of 835 miles of track — only 402 miles electrified for non-diesel railroad use.

It costs $400,000 or more per mile to electrify a track system, the statement said. Such expense would not be required uing the self-propelled gas turbine cars.

A gas turbine harnesses the hot gasses from burning fuels to turn the blades of a fan which then turns a drive shaft.

Gas turbines can use a variety of fuels, including kerosene and low-grade oils.

The Budd Co., which proposed 160-mile-an-hour intercity train, is building four high-speed electric - powered cars for the Department of Commerce — to be tested by the Pennsylvania Railroad in service between New York and Washington.

Bernstorf announced his retirement as cubmaster, with Adams to take over as leader. He expressed appreciation to den mothers who helped in making the pack a success during the last two years.

Brett Discloses GOP Backing In Governor Race

LANCASTER, Pa. (AP)—Dr. George J. Brett, a Lancaster dentist, says he is running for the Republican nomination for governor with the backing of a statewide group of independent conservative Republicans.

Dr. Brett, who lives at Columbia R.D. 1, said Blair Gunther, former state Superior Court justice and former Supreme and Superior Court prothonotary, would run for the nomination for lieutenant governor.

Dr. Brett said the candidate for secretary of internal affairs will be J. Warren Kell of Philadelphia.

Dr. Brett is president of the Pennsylvania Pure Water Association, an organization opposed to flouridation of water. He said part of his campaign would be based on trying to "restore the Bible in the schools."

He has run unsuccessfully for the General Assembly from Lancaster County and also was unsuccessful in bids for the Republican nomination for state treasurer and congressman.

Gunther was a Superior Court judge from 1950 to 1960. He then became the prothonotary of Pennsylvania's two highest courts. In 1964 he started a four year term as Allegheny County commissioner.

Soviet Lofts Two Dogs On Orbital Ride

MOSCOW (AP)—Soviet scientists have launched two dogs into orbit in an experiment apparently aimed at taking man farther and longer into space.

An official announcement said the dogs were lofted Tuesday aboard the satellite Cosmos 110. It said the animals, named Veterok — Breeze — and Ugolvok — Little Coal-Nut — were orbiting the earth every 96 minutes, 18 seconds.

The Soviet news agency Tass said the farthest point of their orbit is more than 500 miles from the earth.

This is the point where radiation may be dangerous to living organisms. They may be trying out protective garb for deep space travel.

Western scientists believe that if their journey is successful it will be followed by a new Soviet space spectacular.

It could be an attempt to put a satellite, probably carrying more dogs, around the moon. Or it could be a try at landing dogs on the moon to test conditions for sending humans there.

It is known that Soviet cosmonauts for some time have been trying to simulate conditions which would occur in an eight-man spaceship designed to stay aloft for considerable periods — perhaps several months.

The first dog in orbit was Laika, launched Nov. 3, 1957, less than a month after the Soviets put up the first Sputnik.

Two other dogs, Belka and Strelka, went up in a Soviet satellite Aug. 19, 1960.

Before sending anyone to the moon, animals and men must test the radiation barrier. This reportedly is one of the objects of the Cosmos series.

When Luna 9 made the first successful soft landing of instruments on the moon nearly three weeks ago, reports circulated in Moscow that dogs were being trained for lunar flights.

Soviet Lofts Two Dogs On Orbital Ride

MOSCOW (AP)—Soviet scientists have launched two dogs into orbit in an experiment apparently aimed at taking man farther and longer into space.

An official announcement said the dogs were lofted Tuesday aboard the satellite Cosmos 110. It said the animals, named Veterok — Breeze — and Ugolvok — Little Coal-Nut — were orbiting the earth every 96 minutes, 18 seconds.

The Soviet news agency Tass said the farthest point of their orbit is more than 500 miles from the earth.

This is the point where radiation may be dangerous to living organisms. They may be trying out protective garb for deep space travel.

Western scientists believe that if their journey is successful it will be followed by a new Soviet space spectacular.

It could be an attempt to put a satellite, probably carrying more dogs, around the moon. Or it could be a try at landing dogs on the moon to test conditions for sending humans there.

It is known that Soviet cosmonauts for some time have been trying to simulate conditions which would occur in an eight-man spaceship designed to stay aloft for considerable periods — perhaps several months.

The first dog in orbit was Laika, launched Nov. 3, 1957, less than a month after the Soviets put up the first Sputnik.

Two other dogs, Belka and Strelka, went up in a Soviet satellite Aug. 19, 1960.

Before sending anyone to the moon, animals and men must test the radiation barrier. This reportedly is one of the objects of the Cosmos series.

When Luna 9 made the first successful soft landing of instruments on the moon nearly three weeks ago, reports circulated in Moscow that dogs were being trained for lunar flights.

Dr. Sheppard And Wife Set For Hearing

CLEVELAND (AP)—Dr. Samuel H. Sheppard and his wife planned to leave for Washington by automobile today to sit in on the U. S. Supreme Court hearing of his new appeal from his murder conviction.

Sheppard, a former Bay Village osteopath, was convicted of second-degree murder and sentenced to life imprisonment in the slaying of his first wife, Marilyn, in their home on July 4, 1954.

He is appealing on grounds that he did not receive a fair trial because of the publicity given his case.

Sheppard had served nearly 10 years in the Ohio Penitentiary when a federal judge freed him in 1964, ruling that his constitutional rights had been violated. Two days after his release he married a German divorcee with whom he had corresponded while in prison.

The U. S. 65h Circuit Court of Appeals at Cincinnati ordered Sheppard back to prison last May. The court placed him under bond pending his appeal to the U. S. Supreme Court and limited him to travel only in the State of Ohio.

Last week the court granted Sheppard permission to go to Washington for the Supreme Court arguments of his case, which are to begin Thursday.

Annual Clinic Report Marks Quota Meeting

The annual report of the Speech and Hearing Clinic was heard during the dinner meeting of the Quota Club Tuesday night at the Travelers Hotel when Mrs. Madge Rittenger of Columbus, governor of the 6th District, paid her official visit. Thirty-four attended.

Miss Phyllis Crook, chairman of the clinic sponsored by the club at Westgate School, reviewed the sessions directed by Dr. John Montgomery, head of the Speech and Hearing Department at Kent State University.

THE SESSIONS were conducted by eight graduating therapists, whose work was supervised by William Weidner. He first examines the patients, who receive a half-hour individual instruction in their particular type of disorder, voice problems, cleft palate cases, delayed speech, stuttering, etc.

Thirty clinics were held on Saturday morning, with 77 patients receiving therapy, 6 adults and 71 children. Fifty evaluations of speech and hearing were made and all but seven were scheduled for therapy. Seventeen were dismissed as completely corrected, 50 made improvement and 10 made little or no progress, mainly because of poor attendance, the report showed.

This is Weidner's seventh year in charge and more patients have been served this past year than in any preceding year, it was pointed out. Quota members serve as receptionists and make all appointments. Miss Crook is assisted by Mrs. Edna Jones and Miss Mildred McGregor.

In other annual reports, Mrs. Marie Hays reviewed her two terms as president and gave the summary of Mrs. Ruth Cox Turner, ways and means chairman. Miss Gladys DeBolt presented the financial report and Miss Luella Thompson the membership report.

MRS. RITTINGER discussed the objectives of Quota, how to increase attendance and community service. She reviewed the changes in bylaws, listed the candidates for the forthcoming international election and touched upon the recent governors' seminar at Washington, D. C. A question-and-answer period followed. She was presented with a gift of pottery.

At the board session following the dinner, Mrs. Rittinger discussed the changes in the fiscal year, the voting on prospective members and the international tour projects now in operation. The international convention will be held June 26-29 at Boston.

Guests introduced were Mrs. Doris McClurg of Westerville, 6th District secretary - treasurer, Mrs. Marjorie Davis and Mrs. Polly Weber of Columbus and Mrs. Dean Wilhelm.

Mrs. Wilma Mason arranged table decorations, which consisted of hurricane lamps, red and blue maline, flags and hatchets. Large figurines of Martha and George Washington and a red, white and blue floral arrangement were used on the speaker's table. Favors, made by Mrs. Mason, were soap bar jewel boxes.

Medal Award Set For Area Viet Casualty

Presentation of a Bronze Star Medal to the parents of the late Pfc. Elwood W. (Skip) Davis, fatally wounded in Viet Nam fighting Nov. 17, will take place March 4 at the Carrollton Village Hall.

The medal will be presented to Mr. and Mrs. Elwood Davis of near West End, Salineville, by Mayor Walter Flenniken. The citation will be read by Army Capt. Robert Sagona of the Ravenna Arsenal.

Pfc. Davis, who earlier received a posthumous award of the Purple Heart Medal, was wounded in action while with the 1st Cavalry Division.

Capt. Sagona said the brief ceremony will be held at 1 p.m. in the Council Chambers of the Village Hall.

Pfc. Davis was a brother of Mrs. Helen Williams of 1049 Monaca St.

The awarding of the Bronze Star was authorized by the Army for the "heroism and valor" of the soldier who was a member of a unit of the 7th Cavalry Regiment which was making an assault landing and moving into position when hit by an enemy force.

Take time to stitch new wash cloths through the buttonhole edge on the machine before using. It prolongs the life of the cloth, as the edge will not ravel. Annexation Discussed By Wellsville's Mayor

Mayor William Daugherty of Wellsville said he favors annexation of various adjacent areas during a talk before the Wellsville Kiwanis Club Tuesday noon at Piatt's Tea Room.

The mayor said that although Wellsville does not have an engineer to assist with annexation planning, and cannot afford one, there are government programs that can be utilized. The government will pay two-thirds of the cost of a planning engineer, he pointed out.

The mayor mentioned the water and sewage survey being conducted in Columbiana County and said Wellsville probably will be asked to provide such services to the outlying districts.

If annexaction comes, Wellsville will have to extend its water, sewage, street maintenance and police and fire protection to make it possible, he said.

The mayor also outlined various other programs for the city. He pointed out that, effective July 1, the city's welfare department will be combined with the county unit. He said he feels Wellsville will receive less service under the new plan.

Plans are being made to purchase a machine to clean the sidewalks in conjunction with an anti-littering campaign. School children will assist in the program.

The mayor said the city doesn't have a good playground program because it is restricted for lack of funds. He pointed out it took three years to place a fence around the 17th St. lot at a cost of $1,654.

More improvements have been made to Hammond Park in the last several years than ever before, he continued, declaring that city water has been extended into the area, the ball park has been built up and plans are in progress for improving toilet facilities.

He said the park program in the city proper also must be improved.

The mayor pointed out the beautification program at 17th and Main Sts. did not cost the city anything, with materials and labor donated.

He said money was solicited to purchase the trees planted. The shrubbery has not yet been paid for, he reported, with various organizations to be contacted for aid.

He said he wants the park area along Main St. to continue and said another project has been set for 4th St.

Bud O'Connor of Pittsburgh was a guest.

Fish is a staple in the Portugese economy. Fish exports in 1964 netted more than $39 million in foreign exchange. One of every 50 Portuguese men earns his livelihood from the sea.

Annual Clinic Report Marks Quota Meeting

The annual report of the Speech and Hearing Clinic was heard during the dinner meeting of the Quota Club Tuesday night at the Travelers Hotel when Mrs. Madge Rittenger of Columbus, governor of the 6th District, paid her official visit. Thirty-four attended.

Miss Phyllis Crook, chairman of the clinic sponsored by the club at Westgate School, reviewed the sessions directed by Dr. John Montgomery, head of the Speech and Hearing Department at Kent State University.

THE SESSIONS were conducted by eight graduating therapists, whose work was supervised by William Weidner. He first examines the patients, who receive a half-hour individual instruction in their particular type of disorder, voice problems, cleft palate cases, delayed speech, stuttering, etc.

Thirty clinics were held on Saturday morning, with 77 patients receiving therapy, 6 adults and 71 children. Fifty evaluations of speech and hearing were made and all but seven were scheduled for therapy. Seventeen were dismissed as completely corrected, 50 made improvement and 10 made little or no progress, mainly because of poor attendance, the report showed.

This is Weidner's seventh year in charge and more patients have been served this past year than in any preceding year, it was pointed out. Quota members serve as receptionists and make all appointments. Miss Crook is assisted by Mrs. Edna Jones and Miss Mildred McGregor.

In other annual reports, Mrs. Marie Hays reviewed her two terms as president and gave the summary of Mrs. Ruth Cox Turner, ways and means chairman. Miss Gladys DeBolt presented the financial report and Miss Luella Thompson the membership report.

MRS. RITTINGER discussed the objectives of Quota, how to increase attendance and community service. She reviewed the changes in bylaws, listed the candidates for the forthcoming international election and touched upon the recent governors' seminar at Washington, D. C. A question-and-answer period followed. She was presented with a gift of pottery.

At the board session following the dinner, Mrs. Rittinger discussed the changes in the fiscal year, the voting on prospective members and the international tour projects now in operation. The international convention will be held June 26-29 at Boston.

Guests introduced were Mrs. Doris McClurg of Westerville, 6th District secretary - treasurer, Mrs. Marjorie Davis and Mrs. Polly Weber of Columbus and Mrs. Dean Wilhelm.

Mrs. Wilma Mason arranged table decorations, which consisted of hurricane lamps, red and blue maline, flags and hatchets. Large figurines of Martha and George Washington and a red, white and blue floral arrangement were used on the speaker's table. Favors, made by Mrs. Mason, were soap bar jewel boxes.

Medal Award Set For Area Viet Casualty

Presentation of a Bronze Star Medal to the parents of the late Pfc. Elwood W. (Skip) Davis, fatally wounded in Viet Nam fighting Nov. 17, will take place March 4 at the Carrollton Village Hall.

The medal will be presented to Mr. and Mrs. Elwood Davis of near West End, Salineville, by Mayor Walter Flenniken. The citation will be read by Army Capt. Robert Sagona of the Ravenna Arsenal.

Pfc. Davis, who earlier received a posthumous award of the Purple Heart Medal, was wounded in action while with the 1st Cavalry Division.

Capt. Sagona said the brief ceremony will be held at 1 p.m. in the Council Chambers of the Village Hall.

Pfc. Davis was a brother of Mrs. Helen Williams of 1049 Monaca St.

The awarding of the Bronze Star was authorized by the Army for the "heroism and valor" of the soldier who was a member of a unit of the 7th Cavalry Regiment which was making an assault landing and moving into position when hit by an enemy force.

Take time to stitch new wash cloths through the buttonhole edge on the machine before using. It prolongs the life of the cloth, as the edge will not ravel. If each person in the family is used to having a certain color and you happen to find some good cloths on sale, all white or all one color, stitch each person's cloth with their color of thread.

Annexation Discussed By Wellsville's Mayor

Mayor William Daugherty of Wellsville said he favors annexation of various adjacent areas during a talk before the Wellsville Kiwanis Club Tuesday noon at Piatt's Tea Room.

The mayor said that although Wellsville does not have an engineer to assist with annexation planning, and cannot afford one, there are government programs that can be utilized. The government will pay two-thirds of the cost of a planning engineer, he pointed out.

The mayor mentioned the water and sewage survey being conducted in Columbiana County and said Wellsville probably will be asked to provide such services to the outlying districts.

If annexaction comes, Wellsville will have to extend its water, sewage, street maintenance and police and fire protection to make it possible, he said.

The mayor also outlined various other programs for the city. He pointed out that, effective July 1, the city's welfare department will be combined with the county unit. He said he feels Wellsville will receive less service under the new plan.

Plans are being made to purchase a machine to clean the sidewalks in conjunction with an anti-littering campaign. School children will assist in the program.

The mayor said the city doesn't have a good playground program because it is restricted for lack of funds. He pointed out it took three years to place a fence around the 17th St. lot at a cost of $1,654.

More improvements have been made to Hammond Park in the last several years than ever before, he continued, declaring that city water has been extended into the area, the ball park has been built up and plans are in progress for improving toilet facilities.

He said the park program in the city proper also must be improved.

The mayor pointed out the beautification program at 17th and Main Sts. did not cost the city anything, with materials and labor donated.

He said money was solicited to purchase the trees planted. The shrubbery has not yet been paid for, he reported, with various organizations to be contacted for aid.

He said he wants the park area along Main St. to continue and said another project has been set for 4th St.

Body Of Newborn Baby Found In Can

CLEVELAND (AP)—The body of a newborn baby has been found in a trash can behind the home of the unwed 20-year-old mother, Wickliffe police reported today.

Wickliffe Police Chief Leon Montgomery said Fred Lewis, father of the woman, had called police to report finding the baby. Detectives said the body was wrapped in a rug in a cardboard box in the trash.

The woman, Sandra Lewis, said the child was born Monday evening and was dead at birth. She was hospitalized for observation.

France Takes Firm Stand On Its Economic Policies

PARIS (AP) — President Charles de Gaulle's government is determined to keep France from becoming an economic colony of the United States, Charles de Chambrun, French foreign trade secretary said today.

Chambrun told The Associated Press that this concern helps explain French stockpiling of American gold, close bargaining in the Common Market, the fruitlessness of the Kennedy Round of tariff negotiations and even the costly French program of atomic research.

"We could permit a much larger American presence in our economy, as the Germans are doing, and it would be easy politically: there would be more jobs and faster growth," he said.

"But to be politically responsible to the generations to come, we have to see that these generations have the weapons to defend themselves — economic weapons.

"If we did nothing, in a few years we would have the same problems as Latin America has.

"The idea has taken hold in American financial circles that the way to take care of the United States' favorable balance of trade with France is to export capital. This is a policy whereby we could become a medium-developed country in the future.

"This explains our attitude on gold. We don't want to take America's gold, we just want to stop the overabundance of American capital in France."

All of the estimated $1.5-billion U.S. investment in France is not unwelcome. Chambrun cited the large operation of International Bussiness Machines as an example.

"IBM does a lot of research here," he said, "and in all it helps raise the general technological level of French industry."

Chambrun is a member of the opposition Catholic Popular Republican Movement. But, he says, "I've always been a Gaullist." He joined the President's Cabinet last month.

Last year, after three years of deficits in its international balance of trade, France had a modest surplus. But, the minister said, "the structure of our exterior commerce is not very good. It would be better to have a sound structure with a trade deficit."

"The principal weakness in the structure is agriculture, which for us is a grave social problem," he said.

About 20 per cent of the French labor force is engaged in agriculture, compared with 7 per cent in the United States and about 10 per cent in Germany.

"We've invested a lot in industry at the same time, and it strains the system," said Chambrun.

A good deal of the strain would be relaxed by agreement on a policy for financing agriculture with France's five Common Market partners — Germany, Italy, Belgium, the Netherlands and Luxembourg. Under such an agreement, the subsidy costs would be shared.

"Until we settle this, we will continue to be, in a sense, an underdeveloped country. The agricultural burden has diverted investment from industry," he said.

With the six Common Market countries sharing agricultural costs, France would be in a better position to hold her own. She could begin in earnest tariff negotiations among the six and the United States, Chambrun said.

Resumptions of these talks, the so-called Kennedy Round, "will start very, very soon," he added.

Chambrun also spoke of U.S. nuclear energy policy:

"The United States is trying to create a new monopoly of energy, as she nearly had with Great Britain on oil. America is trying to make a monopoly on atomic energy.

"You're starting to sell atomic plants for electricity to countries which could never have the possibilities to build them themselves. You're trying to freeze the world uranium sources under the pretext of nonproliferation of nuclear weapons. Everyone knows it's a false pretext."

France decided to enter the atomic club as much to protect the massive European energy market as she did for national security reasons, he said.

Suffocation Ruled

HAMILTON, Ohio (AP)—Gary Lee Elzer, 7-week-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Elzer, was found dead in his bed Tuesday and the coroner's office ruled he died of suffocation.

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—Miss Joyce plans to start driving her maroon hardtop car to work every day. To Miss Taylor, 31, it's another step in her battle against a wheelchair.

Her legs paralyzed since 1947, she passed the test Tuesday to get her driver's license. She scored 89 out of 100 as she guided her special hand - controlled car over the test route.

Since she was injured in a shooting accident, Miss Taylor has graduated from Manual High School and the University of Louisville. She is employed as a draftsman by the Kentucky Highway Department.

CHARLESTOWN, Nevis B.W.I. (AP)—It may have been Washington's birthday, but the Queen of England visited the birthplace of another famous American, Alexander Hamilton.

Queen Elizabeth II, on a Caribbean cruise, toured the island of Nevis Tuesday in the British West Indies. She was only there an hour but at least half of the 12,000 islanders turned out to welcome her.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Patsy Mink, D-Hawaii, set a couple of records Tuesday. She became the first women to read George Washington's Farewell Address in the House of Representatives since the custom became traditional in 1933.

What's more surprising than that is the speed in which she did it: 40 minutes.

That's two minutes less than the unofficial record to date and seven minutes less than it took Sen. Lee Metcalf, D-Mont., to read the 7,600-word essay Tuesday.

"I had no idea I was so fast," Rep. Mink said. "How horrible."

Suffocation Ruled

HAMILTON, Ohio (AP)—Gary Lee Elzer, 7-week-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Elzer, was found dead in his bed Tuesday and the coroner's office ruled he died of suffocation.

Paper was first made in America in 1690 at a mill near Philadelphia, owned by William Rittenhouse and William Bradford.

James F. Malone, president of the Pennsylvania Manufacturers' Association, introduced Shafer at the organization's annual dinner by calling him the choice of the "Democratic—I mean Republican executive committee."

Shafer drew a laugh when he started his talk to the heavily Republican group with, "Fellow Democrats..."

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—Miss Joyce plans to start driving her maroon hardtop car to work every day. To Miss Taylor, 31, it's another step in her battle against a wheelchair.

Her legs paralyzed since 1947, she passed the test Tuesday to get her driver's license. She scored 89 out of 100 as she guided her special hand - controlled car over the test route.

Since she was injured in a shooting accident, Miss Taylor has graduated from Manual High School and the University of Louisville. She is employed as a draftsman by the Kentucky Highway Department.

CHARLESTOWN, Nevis B.W.I. (AP)—It may have been Washington's birthday, but the Queen of England visited the birthplace of another famous American, Alexander Hamilton.

Queen Elizabeth II, on a Caribbean cruise, toured the island of Nevis Tuesday in the British West Indies. She was only there an hour but at least half of the 12,000 islanders turned out to welcome her.

Hamilton, an American statesman who lived in Washington's time, was a Revolutionary leader against the British crown.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Patsy Mink, D-Hawaii, set a couple of records Tuesday. She became the first women to read George Washington's Farewell Address in the House of Representatives since the custom became traditional in 1933.

What's more surprising than that is the speed in which she did it: 40 minutes.

That's two minutes less than the unofficial record to date and seven minutes less than it took Sen. Lee Metcalf, D-Mont., to read the 7,600-word essay Tuesday.

"I had no idea I was so fast," Rep. Mink said. "How horrible."

Fury And Heat Generated In Mossler Murder Trial

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Defense lawyers for Candace Mossler and her nephew, Melvin Lane Powers, are striving to shake the testimony of state witnesses against the couple. Much heat and some fury is being generated in the process.

Allen, a tall Negro with mustache and sideburns, was comforted by Powers and Mrs. Mossler, who are on trial for their lives in the 1964 slaying of her 69-year-old multimillionaire husband, Jacques.

Allen once worked for the Mosslers and Mrs. Mossler assured him as he retreated from the courtroom, "We know you wouldn't do anything to hurt us."

"He's scared to death," the blonde Mrs. Mossler said.

Allen took the witness stand in a defense effort to discredit the testimony of Edward Bart Diehl, a carnival worker with a police record of at least a dozen convictions.

Diehl had claimed Powers offered him $5,000 to $10,000 in 1962 to kill Mossler with Mrs. Mossler nodding agreement to the proposition. Diehl testified for the state that Allen overheard at least part of the proposal.

Allen testified for the defense that he worked for the Mosslers as a handyman at their saddle horse ranch near Galveston, Tex., at the same time as Diehl.

"Did you ever hear a conversation in which Mr. Powers allegedly asked Mr. Diehl to kill Mr. Mossler," asked defense attorney, Marian Rosen.

"No, ma'am," Allen replied.

Allen testified that Diehl came to the witness' home in Galveston recently — he was vague about the date — and told him:

"I'm in trouble. I done lied at the trial and you can help me if you want to."

"Did he want you to say that you had heard a conversation between Melvin Lane Powers and Edward Bart Diehl about killing Mr. Mossler?" Mrs. Rosen asked.

"Yes, ma'am," the witness replied. "He said something about five grand. I said I didn't know what five grand was."

10-Inch Snow Hits Central Part Of Texas

By The Associated Press

A wind-blown snow storm left a covering up to more than 10 inches in the central part of Texas today and the belt of precipitation extended deep into some Southern areas.

Two inches of snow hit Del Rio, on the Mexican border, and three inches covered normally sunny San Antonio. Heaviest amounts were 10 inches and more at Mercury, in the central region. Hazardous - d r i v i n g warnings were issued. Austin reported six inches of snow. Public and parochial schools were closed and classes were suspended at least until noon for 26,000 students at the University of Texas.

Freezing temperatures chilled many sections of Texas except most of the immediate coastal areas. The mercury dropped to 28 at San Antonio and Austin and 16 at Lubbock, which had no snow.

Highways were closed Tuesday night in much of the San Antonio area and school authorities planned to close schools today in San Antonio. Several schools were closed Tuesday in central Texas from the Big Bend country to the Red River Valley.

The snow spread eastward and accumulations in Arkansas ranged from two to eight inches. The wet belt was expected to spread into areas in the middle Mississippi Valley.

More rain doused southern Florida. Miami was soaked with 4½ inches of rain in 24 hours and more than 4 inches fell at West Palm Beach in a 30-hour period.

Ohio 5-Day Forecast

Temperatures will average near normal Thursday through Monday. Representative normal highs and lows are Cleveland 37-20, Columbus 42-24, Cincinnati 46-28.

A little warmer Thursday, little change Friday and Saturday, a little warmer again about Sunday. Precipitation will total about .3 to .5 inch occurring as snow flurries Friday and as rain or snow the first of next week.

Hints from Heloise

— By Heloise Cruse —

Dear Heloie: Here's an idea that will make it easier for your husband or son to pick out the proper T-shirt when he dresses each day; and he can tell the newer ones from those which could be used for work or under shirts, etc.

If the T-shirt is in perfect condition, I fold it so the label will show, and that's all there is to it. He knows it's in perfect condition.

Once a shirt has become worn, I simply cut the label out.

By using this method, he always has some good ones for dress wear.

Well, you have helped solve another battle the housewife faces every day. You are a doll to write it in. Our thanks to you, always.

While we are on the subject of T-shirts, if the neck bands are worn at the edges, take your scissors and cut off the tiny worn edge in a thin sliver. This will leave two pieces around the neckline.

Use your scissors and cut off the inside portion as close as you can to the seam.

Then, just fold over that beautiful, stretchy band and stitch on your sewing machine as if you were using bias tape.

True, you will have the binding only half as wide, but you will have saved a T-shirt. I always double stitch this like a French seam. Makes it lay down nicer and look neat.

It takes only a minute to do this, and it sure looks better than a ragged T-shirt neck showing.

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: An extra aid to good grooming to carry in your pocketbook:

A tiny plastic container partially filled with cleansing cream, and a couple of clean cotton swabs to remove unwanted mascara, lipstick smears, etc. Oh, so nice.

V.I.S.

LETTER OF LAUGHTER

DEAR HELOISE: I just found another advantage to washing in cold water.

This morning, in the bottom of my washing machine, I found a tightly rolled wad of gum after removing a load of children's colored clothes.

J. BRUCKER

DEAR HELOISE: My brick fireplace is painted white. I don't suppose anyone in the world has one that is the bane of their existence like mine.

The other day I opened my windows, poured some pure bleach into a little glass bowl, took my vegetable brush and scoured away! And away went all the horrible marks.

MARGIE

Now, dear folks, I want to caution you on one thing. Be sure and read the cautions on the bleach bottle before you try this method. Open windows, and don't mix with anything (except water) with the bleach.

I don't know what kind of brick you have on your fireplace, but it was a dilly on a job I tried about a year and a half ago.

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: I've found that an inexpenive vegetable brush makes a wonderful scraper for dishes and especially for the very greasy ones.

It's easily rinsed out, too!

A YOUNG HOUSEWIFE

Heloise welcomes all mail, especially household hints which she can pass on to readers as space permits. However, because of the tremendous volume of mail she receives daily, Heloise is unable to answer all individual letters. She will answer readers' questions in her column whenever possible.

'Heart Fund' Hits $59,000

Mahoning turned in $18,666 and Trumbull $9,510, according to figures released at Youngstown by the Heart Association of Eastern Ohio, Inc.

In addition, advance gifts from industry and individuals of $18,959 and memorials and bequests of $8,905 were announced, with total income from all sources now exceeding $59,000. This is 59 per cent of the $100,000 chapter goal, association officers said.

Where no one was at home during the solicitation, volunteers left a contribution envelope. It is hoped that those who were not reached will mail their contribution, the association said. Any envelope can be used and should bear the sender's name and address.

The campaign for funds will continue through Feb. 28. A complete report by community will be issued shortly.

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: We have seat belts in our car and use them faithfully. A relative who lives near us is a frequent passenger. We first hinted, then suggested, and later pleaded with her to use the seat belt, but she refuses.

Why? I wish you would ask her. All she will tell us is that she would rather not.

We feel morally responsible for those who ride in our car. According to the law we are responsible. How far should we go with a person who refuses to protect herself at the expense of our peace of mind? — IRRITATED.

Dear Irritated: Since it's your car and your responsibility you have the right to go as far as you wish — like the limit. Tell the relative that you will not allow her to be a passenger in your car unless she agrees to use the seat belt. And make it stick.

Fact Or Fantasy?

Dear Ann: I'm a 17-year-old girl who needs your help badly. When I was 13 years old my mother took me into her bedroom, shut the door and told me a long, weird story about her past.

She said she was a bad girl and described her love affair with another man who didn't marry her. I was the result of that illicit relationship.

About a year later she told me the same story, changing some facts and adding some intimate details. This past year she has repeated the story four times. Every time she tells it she makes it more like a chapter in a trashy love magazine. Now I'm beginning to suspect that she imagined the whole thing.

The man I thought was my father died when I was 11 years old. I loved him very much. I wish Mother had let me go on believing he was my father instead of planting these seeds of doubt. What do you think about this? — VERDAD????

Dear Verdad????: It sounds to me as if your mother is not well. She may indeed have imagined the whole thing. If this were fact — and not fantasy — I don't think your mother would enjoy reciting the details, and surely she would not be changing them.

Relay Station

Dear Ann: I guess if I had the courage to tell her to her face I would do it but like thousands of others I'm writing to you in the hope that the guilty party will read your column, recognize herself and straighten around.

My roommate and I are both career girls in our middle 20s, and far from stupid. Am I crazy clean, a fuss-budget or a frustrated old maid? It drives me wild when my roommate leaves a ring around the bathtub, cabinet doors at right angles, ice trays in the sink, underwear on the door knobs, cigarette butts in the ash trays overnight and towels on the bathroom floor.

"Roomie" is a swell person and we get along fine on every other score but when it comes to persoal habits she's a pig. I would appreciate advice on how to improve the situation.— LEGAL SECRETARY.

Dear Legal Secretary: The pig is not going to change, so forget about that miracle. You can do one of two things:

1. Figure that the positive aspects of the relationship compensate for her slobbishness and that she is worth cleaning up after.

2. Part company and find a roomie whose personal habits are more like your own— but count on putting up with other traits which you will find difficult to tolerate.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Newell's Fete Parade Aired

The parade will be held June 4 at the conclusion of the annual firemen's carnival, which will begin May 28.

Organizations wishing to sponsor a booth or stand are requested to contact Gene Lytton or Don McVeigh as soon as possible so that the structures may be ordered.

A forest and grass firefighting school in conjunction with the West Virginia Forestry Division will be held March 5 in New Cumberland, it was announced.

Some 100,000 Europeans live on boats and canal barges.

You Can't Be Fit And Flabby

Ida Jean Kain

Day-to-day living makes so little demand on the muscles. Exercise means a setting in action; bodily exertion for the sake of keeping the organs and functions in a healthy state, and the muscles in proper tone. You can't be fit and flabby.

There is no age limit on exercise, but body-conditioning should be suited to individual strength. It is always wise to talk this over with your doctor. A middle-ager, rusty on exercise, shouldn't attempt strenuous calisthenics, or tackle any other type of rugged exercise.

THE GENERAL rule for beginners is to start easily. Do not apply maximum effort in the beginning, even with isometrics. For the first three or four weeks you should exert only about half of what you consider to be your maximum force. No one is a pro at the start.

With today's soft living, bad backs are all too common, and, with back trouble, twisting exercise is taboo.

Just what kind of exercise and how much to take is a real question today. Uncle Sam has a gem of a booklet entitled "Adult Physical Fitness."

Why exercise? The booklet's answer: "Whenever there is muscle there is need of movement. The human body contains more than 600 muscles; overall, it is more than half muscle. Technological advances have changed our way of living, have made strenuous physical exertion largely unnecessary. The word 'chore' has virtually gone out of use.

"But the needs of the human body have not changed. Muscles are meant to be used. When they are not used, or not used enough, they deteriorate..."

WITH REGARD to weight, exercise does help in weight control. As the booklet makes clear, obese people almost invariably tend to be much less active than those of normal weight.

So back to the question, do you eat too much or exercise too little? A 15-to-20-minute daily walk can burn 100 calories and stave off a weight gain of 10 pounds in a single year.

The booklet includes exercises for all ages, calisthenics and isometrics, and tests for measuring your progress. The cost is 35 cents, not in stamps. The address is Superintendent of Documents, U.S. Government Printing Office, Washington, D.C. 20402.

Gosney Renews Plea For Youth In Politics

LISBON — Don R. Gosney of Columbiana, 18th Congressional District member of the State Democratic Central Committee, Monday night renewed an appeal for both major parties to seek to interest America's youth in politics and careers in public service.

In an address here to presidents of Columbiana County Democratic clubs, Gosney repeated the theme which he used first in an address last week in Noble County — that young people must be groomed to take over leadership if democracy is to survive.

Gosney said both parties' state central committees should set up divisions "to inform our youth of the opportunities to serve their country in politics."

Hints from Heloise

— By Heloise Cruse —

Dear Heloie: Here's an idea that will make it easier for your husband or son to pick out the proper T-shirt when he dresses each day; and he can tell the newer ones from those which could be used for work or under shirts, etc.

If the T-shirt is in perfect condition, I fold it so the label will show, and that's all there is to it. He knows it's in perfect condition.

Once a shirt has become worn, I simply cut the label out.

In a jiffy he can spot the proper undershirt when he opens the drawer, by looking for the label.

By using this method, he always has some good ones for dress wear.

MRS. R. ARGULJO.

Well, you have helped solve another battle the housewife faces every day. You are a doll to write it in. Our thanks to you, always.

While we are on the subject of T-shirts, if the neck bands are worn at the edges, take your scissors and cut off the tiny worn edge in a thin sliver. This will leave two pieces around the neckline.

Turn the shirt wrong side out.

Use your scissors and cut off the inside portion as close as you can to the seam.

Then, just fold over that beautiful, stretchy band and stitch on your sewing machine as if you were using bias tape.

True, you will have the binding only half as wide, but you will have saved a T-shirt. I always double stitch this like a French seam. Makes it lay down nicer and look neat.

It takes only a minute to do this, and it sure looks better than a ragged T-shirt neck showing.

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: An extra aid to good grooming to carry in your pocketbook:

A tiny plastic container partially filled with cleansing cream, and a couple of clean cotton swabs to remove unwanted mascara, lipstick smears, etc. Oh, so nice.

V.I.S.

LETTER OF LAUGHTER

DEAR HELOISE: I just found another advantage to washing in cold water.

This morning, in the bottom of my washing machine, I found a tightly rolled wad of gum after removing a load of children's colored clothes.

Think what it would have been had the water been hot!

J. BRUCKER

DEAR HELOISE: My brick fireplace is painted white. I don't suppose anyone in the world has one that is the bane of their existence like mine.

The other day I opened my windows, poured some pure bleach into a little glass bowl, took my vegetable brush and scoured away! And away went all the horrible marks.

Talk about magic!

MARGIE

Now, dear folks, I want to caution you on one thing. Be sure and read the cautions on the bleach bottle before you try this method. Open windows, and don't mix with anything (except water) with the bleach.

I don't know what kind of brick you have on your fireplace, but it was a dilly on a job I tried about a year and a half ago.

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: I've found that an inexpensive vegetable brush makes a wonderful scraper for dishes and especially for the very greasy ones.

'Heart Fund' Hits $59,000

A total of $30,964 was realized from "Heart Sunday" in three counties, with Columbiana contributing $2,788.

Mahoning turned in $18,666 and Trumbull $9,510, according to figures released at Youngstown by the Heart Association of Eastern Ohio, Inc.

In addition, advance gifts from industry and individuals of $18,959 and memorials and bequests of $8,905 were announced, with total income from all sources now exceeding $59,000. This is 59 per cent of the $100,000 chapter goal, association officers said.

Where no one was at home during the solicitation, volunteers left a contribution envelope. It is hoped that those who were not reached will mail their contribution, the association said. Any envelope can be used and should bear the sender's name and address.

The campaign for funds will continue through Feb. 28. A complete report by community will be issued shortly.

Pittsburgh Intruder Killed By Elderly Man

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Allegheny County detectives said an elderly man shot to death Tuesday night a man crawling through a kitchen window of his vacant house in nearby Versailles Twp.

They said the dead man was Isaac Jones, 47, of Pittsburgh. Edward Johnson, 72, a resident of Pittsburgh's Homewood section shot Jones once in the abdomen with a pistol, detectives said.

They said Johnson discovered several cans filled with gasoline in the house and lay in wait in the kitchen for the persons who put them there to return. They said Jones was armed with a .32 caliber revolver.

School Debt Limit Vote Due Pittsburgh

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Pittsburghers will vote in the May 17 primary election on whether to increase the city school system's debt limit by $50 million.

The Pittsburgh Board of Education decided Tuesday to place the question on the ballot. If authorization is forthcoming from the voters, the board plans using the additional borrowing capacity to build new school buildings.

Increasing the debt, the board said, would not result in a tax increase.

Board Awaits Word On 2 School Issues

Although the printing of ballots has been started by the Wellsville Publishing Co., the County Election Board said today it still is awaiting word on the possible submission of current expense levies from the Southern Local and Leetonia Exempted Village School Districts.

Frank R. O'Hanlon, director of elections, said the board has heard reports the two levies may be submitted for the May 3 election, but no official information has been received from the school districts.

O'Hanlon pointed out that state law requires absentee ballots to be available on March 4.

Four current expense levies already have been submitted by other subdivisions, he added.

Sevareid Post-Mortem

Eric Sevareid, the generally perceptive CBS News commentator and correspondent, believes the issue over which Fred Friendly quit his post as CBS News president last week was not big enough to warrant such drastic action. Nor does Sevareid consider Friendly's leave - taking as disastrous as some of the rest of us.

Hal Humphrey

"I had a row with Fred over this before he quit and tried my best to stop him. The issue was not that clear-cut. I think the top men involved, including Schneider, painted themselves into a corner. Maybe Schneider did act too quickly, but I also think that Fred shouldn't have considered that action as final as he did. One swallow doesn't make a summer," Sevareid said, during a post-mortem conversation to Friendly's resignation.

-:-

JOHN SCHNEIDER'S rapid and unequivocal decision to dump live TV coverage of George F. Kennan's testimony on Viet Nam before the Senate committee just 24 hours following his promotion from CBS-TV president to a loftier spot in the CBS hierarchy caused Friendly to consider himself stripped of any autonomy in his own position.

He reasoned that if it was no longer his job to decide if these important hearings were given full coverage or not, then being president of CBS News soon would be irrelevant anyway.

"All I'm trying to say is that CBS News can't be emasculated by this one incident, and I would like to remind you fellows writing about it that Dick Salant is a hell of a fellow, too," said Sevareid.

RICHARD SALANT was in charge of CBS News from 1961 to 1964, prior to Friendly's being elevated from head of "CBS Reports" programs to that job. When Friendly quit, Salant was put back as "acting president" of CBS News. He had been a CBS vice president and special assistant to Dr. Frank Stanton, CBS president.

"People in the industry may have lost sight of the fact Dick Salant was the one to start the half-hour network news format, a major advance in TV news," reminded Sevareid. "Also, Salant set up the first election unit in TV on a year-around basis and received commentary on the news at CBS."

This last move was of vital interest to Sevareid, since he found a special niche for his fine talents as a commentator and analyst. Also, of course, it was a boon to the viewer of TV news, who usually is left drowning in a morass of facts and figures and no interpretation.

SALANT is the same age as Friendly (51) and a graduate of Harvard Law School, but aside from his three years of heading CBS News he has no news background.

Friendly, on the other hand, has been a newspaperman and began his broadcasting career in 1938 writing and producing five-minute dramatized biographies of people whose ideas helped found American industry.

In 1948 Friendly joined Ed Murrow at CBS in an association leading to the memorable "Hear It Now" and "See It Now" radio and TV documentary-news series. They remained together at CBS until Murrow resigned his $200,000-a-year post there to become the $21,000-a-year head of the U.S. Information Agency.

MURROW, like Friendly, had respect for the news and battled tirelessly on the network level to see that it did not become corroded. He won a few and lost a few, but left CBS feeling he had accomplished too little.

His leaving, ironically, added a temporary impetus for increased news and public affairs programs, just as Friendly's will now. It would seem to be a matter of conscience for the top brass to prove that they really do care. Usually these conscience attacks turn out to be quite temporary.

Friendly's dramatic departure from CBS even had its effect on the ABC network, which suddenly decided to cover the Senate Foreign Relations Committee hearings on a live basis last week. Heretofore ABC couldn't be bothered.

Both Sevareid and Walter Cronkite tried to argue Friendly out of leaving, but one wonders if it occurred to either of these veteran CBS newsmen to confront Stanton and do some arguing on Friendly's benalf.

College Students Volunteer As Tutors

Some while ago I reported in this column the fine contributions by many students in colleges and universities who are volunteering their services for tutoring children in disadvantaged areas. Since then you may have read various reports in the public press about the growth of this laudable activity. A very informative and heart-warming article by Andrew Hamilton in the December issue of The PTA Magazine covers this subject.

Dr. Garry Myers

Mr. Hamilton points out that for many years some college students have helped teach slum and mountain children, and he notes, "But since 1962 the idea has caught hold explosively. Today an estimated 100,000 college students — unpaid volunteers — operate their own educational corps, and are involved in some 350 full-fledged tutorial projects to assist disadvantaged youngsters all over the United States." Some have estimated that by 1970 there will be a million of them.

THEN MR. Hamilton cites examples of such activities from a number of colleges and universities.

Students from Brown University and Pembroke College, men and women, pair off to help children of an elementary school of Providence, R.I. (97 percent Negro), who choose to remain after school twice a week. These volunteer tutors carry with them simple learning materials. For an hour they help children read, spell and solve problems. They talk about baseball and TV programs, as well as school and college activities.

Such tutors the nation over include students from big universities like Harvard, Yale, U.C.L.A., N.Y.U., Texas, as well as from smaller colleges such as Reed in Oregon, Trinity in Connecticut, Mount St. Mary's in California, and Kalamazoo in Michigan.

The children meet their tutor not only in school classrooms, but also in church basements, buildings and playgrounds of one of the Y's, or in the children's homes.

AMERICAN college youths, by the hundreds of thousands, are beginning to look about them at society's ills and how they might help correct them. While "some are expressing their concern through picketing and freedom marches, others feel they can be active and useful by tutoring disadvantaged children."

The children tutored by college student volunteers, taught individually or in small groups, are at the bottom of the social-economic ladder — mostly Negroes, Puerto Ricans, and Mexican - Americans. The tutoring projects are initiated and carried on by the sudents themselves.

One of the nation's largest tutoring projects is at the University of California. It operates on a budget of $7,500.00 supplied by the student funds. Last fall, more than 600 students volunteered. They were a cross-section of the student body — "Greek-letter types, brand-new freshman, Phi Beta Kappas, athletes, beauty queens" — all with "fire in their eyes."

These students pledged to tutor for at least two hours a week "at one of the project's ten locations which serve seven elementary schools, two high schools, and one Job Corps center. In all ten areas the children were predominantly Negro and Mexican-American."

THESE university and college tutoring projects have very little money. A few receive financial help from college or university sources, the National Student Association, various "Y" groups, or the Urban League. Others are financed solely by the tutors and their friends.

The world's first cities were built about 5,500 years ago in Mesopatamia.

WHAT KIND OF NUT ORDERS AIR CONDITIONING IN THIS WEATHER?

What kind of nut would order whole house Gas air conditioning on a day like this?
Probably somebody kooky enough to want his whole house cool, free from dust and pollen from the very first hot night of summer. Some odd ball who realizes that Gas air conditioning is the quietest, most economical, longest lasting and most trouble free he can get. Some character who has had it with roaring, drafty window units and wants to add year-round comfort right to his existing Gas furnace.
These nuts know they can have a three ton capacity Gas central air conditioning system, including normal installation, for just $13.00 a month (nothing down, nothing to pay until May). And they know they can take up to ten full years to pay.
If this makes sense to you, too, slip one arm out of your straitjacket and fill in the no obligation coupon. Mail it for the complete facts.
After all, what kind of nut swelters all summer when he can have Gas air conditioning for $13.00 a month?

One of the nation's largest tutoring projects is at the University of California. It operates on a budget of $7,500.00 supplied by the student funds. Last fall, more than 600 students volunteered. They were a cross-section of the student body — "Greek-letter types, brand-new freshman, Phi Beta Kappas, athletes, beauty queens" — all with "fire in their eyes."

These students pledged to tutor for at least two hours a week "at one of the project's ten locations which serve seven elementary schools, two high schools, and one Job Corps center. In all ten areas the children were predominantly Negro and Mexican-American."

THESE university and college tutoring projects have very little money. A few receive financial help from college or university sources, the National Student Association, various "Y" groups, or the Urban League. Others are financed solely by the tutors and their friends.

The world's first cities were built about 5,500 years ago in Mesopotamia.

WHAT KIND OF NUT ORDERS AIR CONDITIONING IN THIS WEATHER?

Here we sit, wondering how all that red stuff can scrinch into that little ball at the bottom of the thermometer. And we're thinking Winter Thoughts: Snow shovels, dead batteries, thermal undies and flying to Florida, right?
Not everyone. In this chilly weather, some people will order their air conditioning.
Yes, you read it right. Air conditioning.
What kind of nut would order whole house Gas air conditioning on a day like this?
Probably somebody kooky enough to want his whole house cool, free from dust and pollen from the very first hot night of summer. Some odd ball who realizes that Gas air conditioning is the quietest, most economical, longest-lasting and most trouble-free he can get. Some character who has had it with roaring, drafty window units and wants to add year-round comfort right to his existing Gas furnace.
These nuts know they can have a three ton capacity Gas central air conditioning system, including normal installation, for just $13.00 a month (nothing down, nothing to pay until May). And they know they can take up to ten full years to pay.
If this makes sense to you, too, slip one arm out of your straitjacket and fill in the no obligation coupon. Mail it for the complete facts.
After all, what kind of nut swelters all summer when he can have Gas air conditioning for $13.00 a month?

Mardi Gras March Falls Short

Jazz clarinetist Pete Fountain looks forward to Mardi Gras like a kid waits for Santa Claus. He closes his French Quarter night club and enjoys his "day" leading his marching club. This is day as told by Bill Crider who marched with him Tuesday.

By BILL CRIDER

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP) — The great annual march of the Half-Fast Walking Club fell short of its goal. It always does. But it was a splendid effort.

We ended in the crush of humanity on Canal Street with our chief of chiefs, Pete Fountain, being assisted to sanctuary, his features wreathed in a beatific smile, still clutching his clarinet.

You may not remember, Pete, but you had a marvelous time on your favorite day of the year — Mardi Gras. So did 50 other Indian chiefs.

We started with the gray light of dawn, donning Indian chief costumes, war paint, feather bonnets. Then off in a convoy of taxis, with motorcycle police as outriders, to the staging area — a bar on the river front.

The spectacle of Mardi Gras was already forming as we drove through the new sunlight. Devils were appearing. And clowns, pirates, men in prison stripes, pretty Bo Peeps.

The Onward Marching Band, hired for the great walk, warmed up in the street and so did the crowd. Pete and some of his musicians stood in with them occasionally, as the spirit moved them.

Then to cries of "Mount up, mount up," we formed and straggled off, a ragged rank of feathered headdresses bobbing through the people who swirled around us, often war dancing with us.

With each mile the crowd grew and pressed tighter. Fifteen blocks from Canal, grinning police were scarcely able to clear a narrow path. The firewater was gone but cold beers were handed in by kindly souls on the sidelines.

So we never made it down Bourbon Street, as planned. It would have been impossible, anyhow, without a bulldozer.

Club members proudly report you made it a little farther this Mardi Gras than you did on our last Fat Tuesday.

Next year, when the club theme will be Viking instead of Indian, we may make it all the way.

Pennsylvania Investigation

Question Of Wiretapping Sounded In Police Probe

HARRISBURG (AP) — Two members of a special House committee investigating the state police said they were directed to the question of illegal wiretapping on the complaints of troopers in the force.

"Certain troopers suspect that their phones had been tapped by other members of the state police," Committee Chairman Ronald G. Lench, D-Beaver, and Rep. Herbert Fineman, D-Philadelphia, said at the conclusion of hearings Tuesday.

The hearings produced explosive testimony from State Police Det. Angelo Carcaci who said under oath that wiretapping devices had been used on occasion by the department in the conduct of investigation.

Wiretapping, or the interception of any telephone and telegraph communications by any police organization or individual, is unconditionally prohibited under a 1957 law enacted by the general assembly.

"If this man used them (wiretaps), he did so on his own," Purdy declared. "An investigation will be launched immediately. It always has been our policy that no such methods be used."

Caraci, who told the committee they were placing him in a "very uncomfortable position," said the department began to purchase electronic listening devices in 1964, to the best of his recollection.

He also testified that he had attended a counterintelligence school in San Francisco, Calif., that same year to be trained in their use. Others on the force had been similarly trained, he said.

Fineman: "Has anyone advised you that his telephone lines had been tapped?"

Fineman: "Have you ever tapped a public telephone?"

Caraci: "I refuse to answer that because I may incriminate myself."

Lench said Carcaci would be the lead-off witness when the hearings resume Monday at 10 a.m. in the House caucus room.

He indicated the use of the electronic devices would occupy a considerable deal of the committee's time.

Lench said there was no intention at this point to call Purdy to the stand to testify to the use of the equipment, commenting that the commissioner was free to appear when he requested.

Purdy, however, maintained that this was not the case. "I'm willing to testify at any time," he said. "I've been able to testify only when requested to testify by the committee. We've often asked for permission to put witnesses on the stand to clarify certain points, but were refused."

Mardi Gras March Falls Short

Jazz clarinetist Pete Fountain looks forward to Mardi Gras like a kid waits for Santa Claus. He closes his French Quarter night club and enjoys his "day" leading his marching club. This is day as told by Bill Crider who marched with him Tuesday.

By BILL CRIDER

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP) — The great annual march of the Half-Fast Walking Club fell short of its goal. It always does. But it was a splendid effort.

We started bravely, our little band of feathered Indian chiefs, armed with rubber-tipped spears and firewater.

We ended in the crush of humanity on Canal Street with our chief of chiefs, Pete Fountain, being assisted to sanctuary, his features wreathed in a beatific smile, still clutching his clarinet.

You may not remember, Pete, but you had a marvelous time on your favorite day of the year — Mardi Gras. So did 50 other Indian chiefs.

We started with the gray light of dawn, donning Indian chief costumes, war paint, feather bonnets. Then off in a convoy of taxis, with motorcycle police as outriders, to the staging area — a bar on the river front.

The spectacle of Mardi Gras was already forming as we drove through the new sunlight. Devils were appearing. And clowns, pirates, men in prison stripes, pretty Bo Peeps.

We picked up our spears at the bar, amidst a great popping of beer cans being opened. Firewater was distributed.

The Onward Marching Band, hired for the great walk, warmed up in the street and so did the crowd. Pete and some of his musicians stood in with them occasionally, as the spirit moved them.

Then to cries of "Mount up, mount up," we formed and straggled off, a ragged rank of feathered headdresses bobbing through the people who swirled around us, often war dancing with us.

With each mile the crowd grew and pressed tighter. Fifteen blocks from Canal, grinning police were scarcely able to clear a narrow path. The firewater was gone but cold beers were handed in by kindly souls on the sidelines.

At Canal we bogged down completely, Pete, partly due to a gorgeous young woman in an evening gown with spectacular decolletage.

So we never made it down Bourbon Street, as planned. It would have been impossible, anyhow, without a bulldozer.

Club members proudly report you made it a little farther this Mardi Gras than you did on our last Fat Tuesday.

Next year, when the club theme will be Viking instead of Indian, we may make it all the way.

Question Of Wiretapping Sounded In Police Probe

HARRISBURG (AP) — Two members of a special House committee investigating the state police said they were directed to the question of illegal wiretapping on the complaints of troopers in the force.

"Certain troopers suspect that their phones had been tapped by other members of the state police," Committee Chairman Ronald G. Lench, D-Beaver, and Rep. Herbert Fineman, D-Philadelphia, said at the conclusion of hearings Tuesday.

The hearings produced explosive testimony from State Police Det. Angelo Carcaci who said under oath that wiretapping devices had been used on occasion by the department in the conduct of investigation.

Commissioner E. Wilson Purdy declared a bit later in a telephone interview that he had no knowledge of such activity.

Wiretapping, or the interception of any telephone and telegraph communications by any police organization or individual, is unconditionally prohibited under a 1957 law enacted by the general assembly.

"If this man used them (wiretaps), he did so on his own," Purdy declared. "An investigation will be launched immediately. It always has been our policy that no such methods be used."

Caraci, who told the committee they were placing him in a "very uncomfortable position," said the department began to purchase electronic listening devices in 1964, to the best of his recollection.

He also testified that he had attended a counterintelligence school in San Francisco, Calif., that same year to be trained in their use. Others on the force had been similarly trained, he said.

"Has any commander used wiretaps to check on his own personnel?"

Caraci: "I couldn't answer that question."

Fineman: "Has anyone advised you that his telephone lines had been tapped?"

Caraci: "No sir, not to my knowledge."

Another exchange went like this:

Fineman: "Have you ever tapped a public telephone?"

Caraci: "I refuse to answer that because I may incriminate myself."

Lench said Carcaci would be the lead-off witness when the hearings resume Monday at 10 a.m. in the House caucus room.

He indicated the use of the electronic devices would occupy a considerable deal of the committee's time.

Lench said there was no intention at this point to call Purdy to the stand to testify to the use of the equipment, commenting that the commissioner was free to appear when he requested.

Purdy, however, maintained that this was not the case. "I'm willing to testify at any time," he said. "I've been able to testify by the committee. We've often asked for permission to put witnesses on the stand to clarify certain points, but were refused."

How Can I?

By ANNE ASHLEY

Q. — How can I make an easier and more efficient job of cutting carpets?

A. — Turn the underside of the carpet up, and use a sharp knife or razor blade to sever the cords. Then, as a guide for making a straight cut, keep the blade of your knife or razor between two parallel filler or warp strands.

Q. — How can I pack watches, jewelry, and other such delicate items for safe mailing?

A. — One good idea is to pack them into a rubber sponge that has been split almost in half lengthwise.

Q. — How can I remove lead-pencil stains from fabrics?

A. — Work glycerin or heavy detergent solution into the stains with a blunt -edged object. Apply a few drops of ammonia, and gently work this into the stain. As the stains dissolve, flush from the fabric with warm water.

Q. — What can I do when one of my freshly - baked cakes sticks to the bottom of the pan and threatens to break to pieces when removed?

A. — Turn the pan upside down and lay a cloth wrung out of water on the bottom of it. After a few minutes, the cake should come out without crumbling.

Junior Editors Quiz on NAMES

QUESTION: How did people get to be called by different names?

ANSWER: If we had no names and a teacher could only say "You over there, the boy with the snub nose and three freckles on his right cheek," the world would be a confusing place to live in. No one knows just how or when names began, but they probably had to do with some personal peculiarity, such as "Lightfoot." Many of our first names come from the Bible, and these had meanings, such as John (gracious gift of Yahveh) or Elizabeth (oath of God). The first people to have more than one name are said to been the Chinese, family names being decreed by the Emperor Fushi around 2852 B.C. In the middle ages, in Italy, high-born people began to adopt family names to call attention to their ancestors and to show they were different from commoners. But people of more ordinary rank liked the idea too. Our illustration shows how many such family names started. An expert cooper or carpenter or smith was proud of his trade and was often pleased to have such a word become the last name of his family. Places also became attached to people to become last names of families. A settler built a house on a hilltop and became Mr. Hill.

Road Builder To Hear Talk By First Lady

The First Lady was to address a luncheon meeting at the 64th annual convention of the American Road Builders Association, the final day of meetings that opened Sunday.

The theme of saving trees and other natural beauty in building roads was stressed by Rex M. Whitton, federal highway administrator in the Bureau of Public Roads.

"The basic foundation starts with the location of the road, followed by its design to make the best use of natural features around it," Whitton said in an address to the association.

Sen. Jennings Randolph, D-W Va., chairman of the Senate Public Roads subcommittee and Rep. George H. Fallon, D-Md., chairman of the House Public Works Committee, both discussed the highway beautification act of 1965.

And this is Crucible

Crucible is a place to work and grow, Norman Bucher (left) speaks to that. He joined Crucible 10 years ago as a laborer in the Finishing Mills. Interested in personal advancement, he found opportunity in the company's apprentice program. There he received on-the-job training, supplemented by weekly four-hour classroom sessions, which helped him become a design draftsman in 1964. Early last summer he was promoted to foreman in Midland's Roll Shop. Like many Crucible men and women, Bucher found encouragement in his desire to learn new skills and opportunity to use those skills in a better, more challenging position within the company. Crucible recognizes that as its people grow so will the company grow.

Road Builder To Hear Talk By First Lady

The First Lady was to address a luncheon meeting at the 64th annual convention of the American Road Builders Association, the final day of meetings that opened Sunday.

The theme of saving trees and other natural beauty in building roads was stressed by Rex M. Whitton, federal highway administrator in the Bureau of Public Roads.

"The basic foundation starts with the location of the road, followed by its design to make the best use of natural features around it," Whitton said in an address to the association.

Sen. Jennings Randolph, D-W. Va., chairman of the Senate Public Roads subcommittee and Rep. George H. Fallon, D-Md., chairman of the House Public Works Committee, both discussed the highway beautification act of 1965.

And this is Crucible

Crucible is a place to work and grow, Norman Bucher (left) speaks to that. He joined Crucible 10 years ago as a laborer in the Finishing Mills. Interested in personal advancement, he found opportunity in the company's apprentice program. There he received on-the-job training, supplemented by weekly four-hour classroom sessions, which helped him become a design drattsman in 1964. Early last summer he was promoted to foreman in Midland's Roll Shop. Like many Crucible men and women, Bucher found encouragement in his desire to learn new skills and opportunity to use those skills in a better, more challenging position within the company. Crucible recognizes that as its people grow so will the company grow.
